

THE AVIARY

The Aviary is home to a large vine dome. The map depicts the inside of this dome. If the party travel into the dome they will encounter a tribe of Awakened Dart Frogs; these are always hostile towards the party on sight. The party will have a chance to spot the frogs before they launch their attack, but if they miss this chance then the first round of initiative will be a surprise.

DESCRIPTION TO READ TO PLAYERS

ON THE PATH ADJACENT TO THE AVIARY

To the right of the path lies a large Aviary with stone foundations giving rise to a domed mesh of weaved vines. Peering within the dome, you can make out a small grove containing trees, large shrubs, and the sound of flowing water, but you cannot see the source. The thick condensed water in and around the Aviary creates a light blanket of mist.

On the eastern side of the Aviary lies a vine arch and gate leading into the vine dome.

UPON ENTERING THE DOME

You hear various chirping sounds, the rustling of leaves & branches, and subtle sounds of pitter patter on sodden soil.

Players must perform a DC 11 Wisdom (Perception) check to spot the frogs.

If the party see the frogs in their hiding spaces, or if the frogs are able to lure the party deep enough within the Aviary, they will begin their attack. If the party have yet to spot them, they will ambush the party with a surprise round.

Should the party kill every Awakened Frog, they will not find much in the way of loot apart from egg clusters, a tiny makeshift village hidden in and around the low shrubbery, and tiny tools.
