

STRIP MAHJONG

By GREENTEA NEKO

I usually go home alone after school.

But today, I met three little pigs along the way.

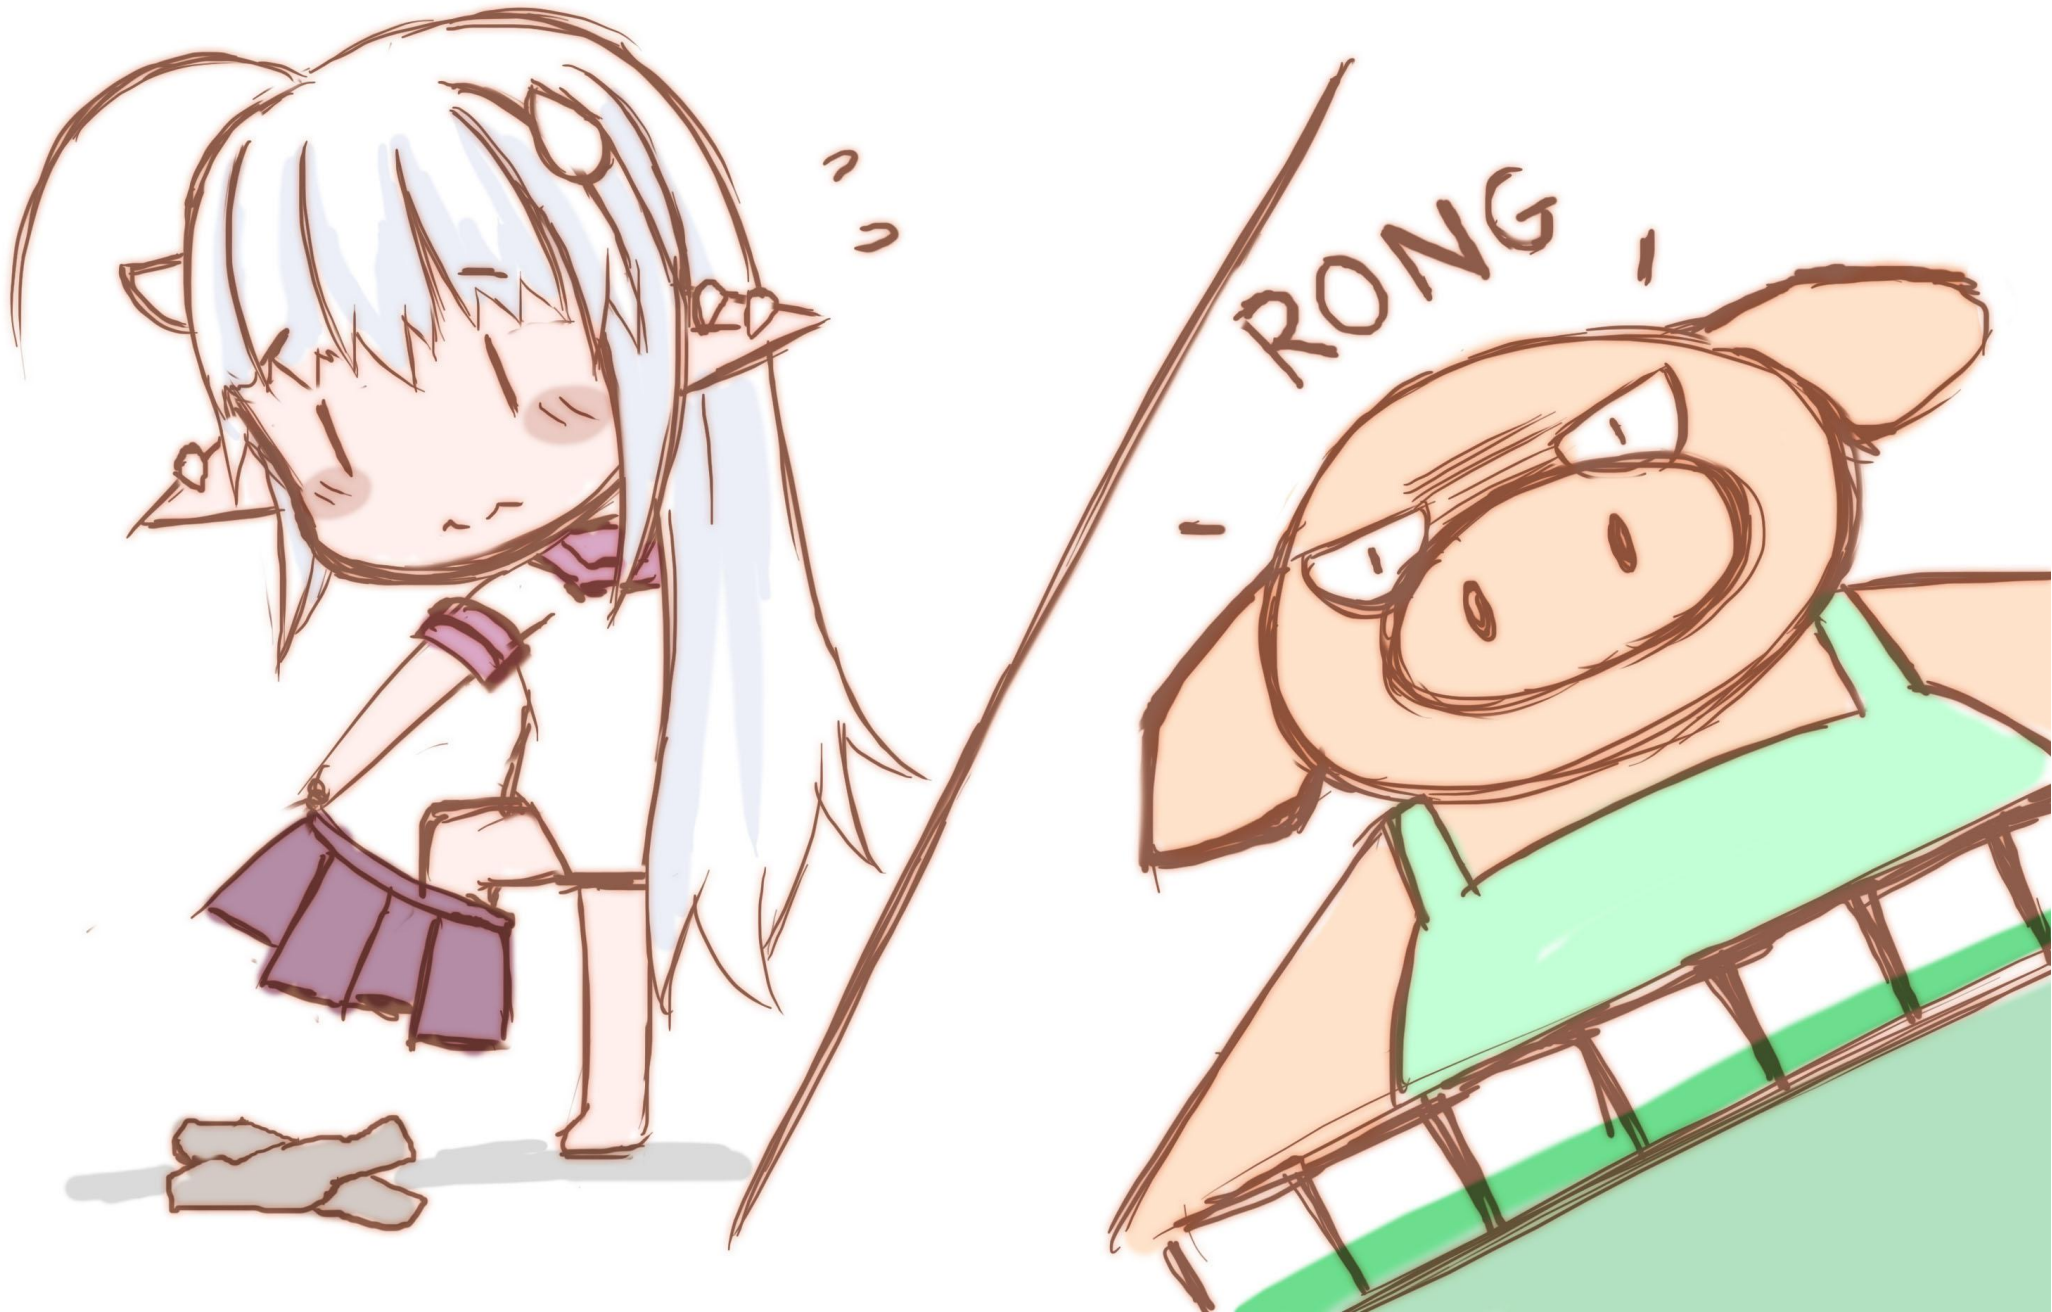

They challenged me to a game of mahjong.

Since I like the game, who am I to reject them?

They said that they are playing strip mahjong rules.
And unfortunately, my luck was really bad today.

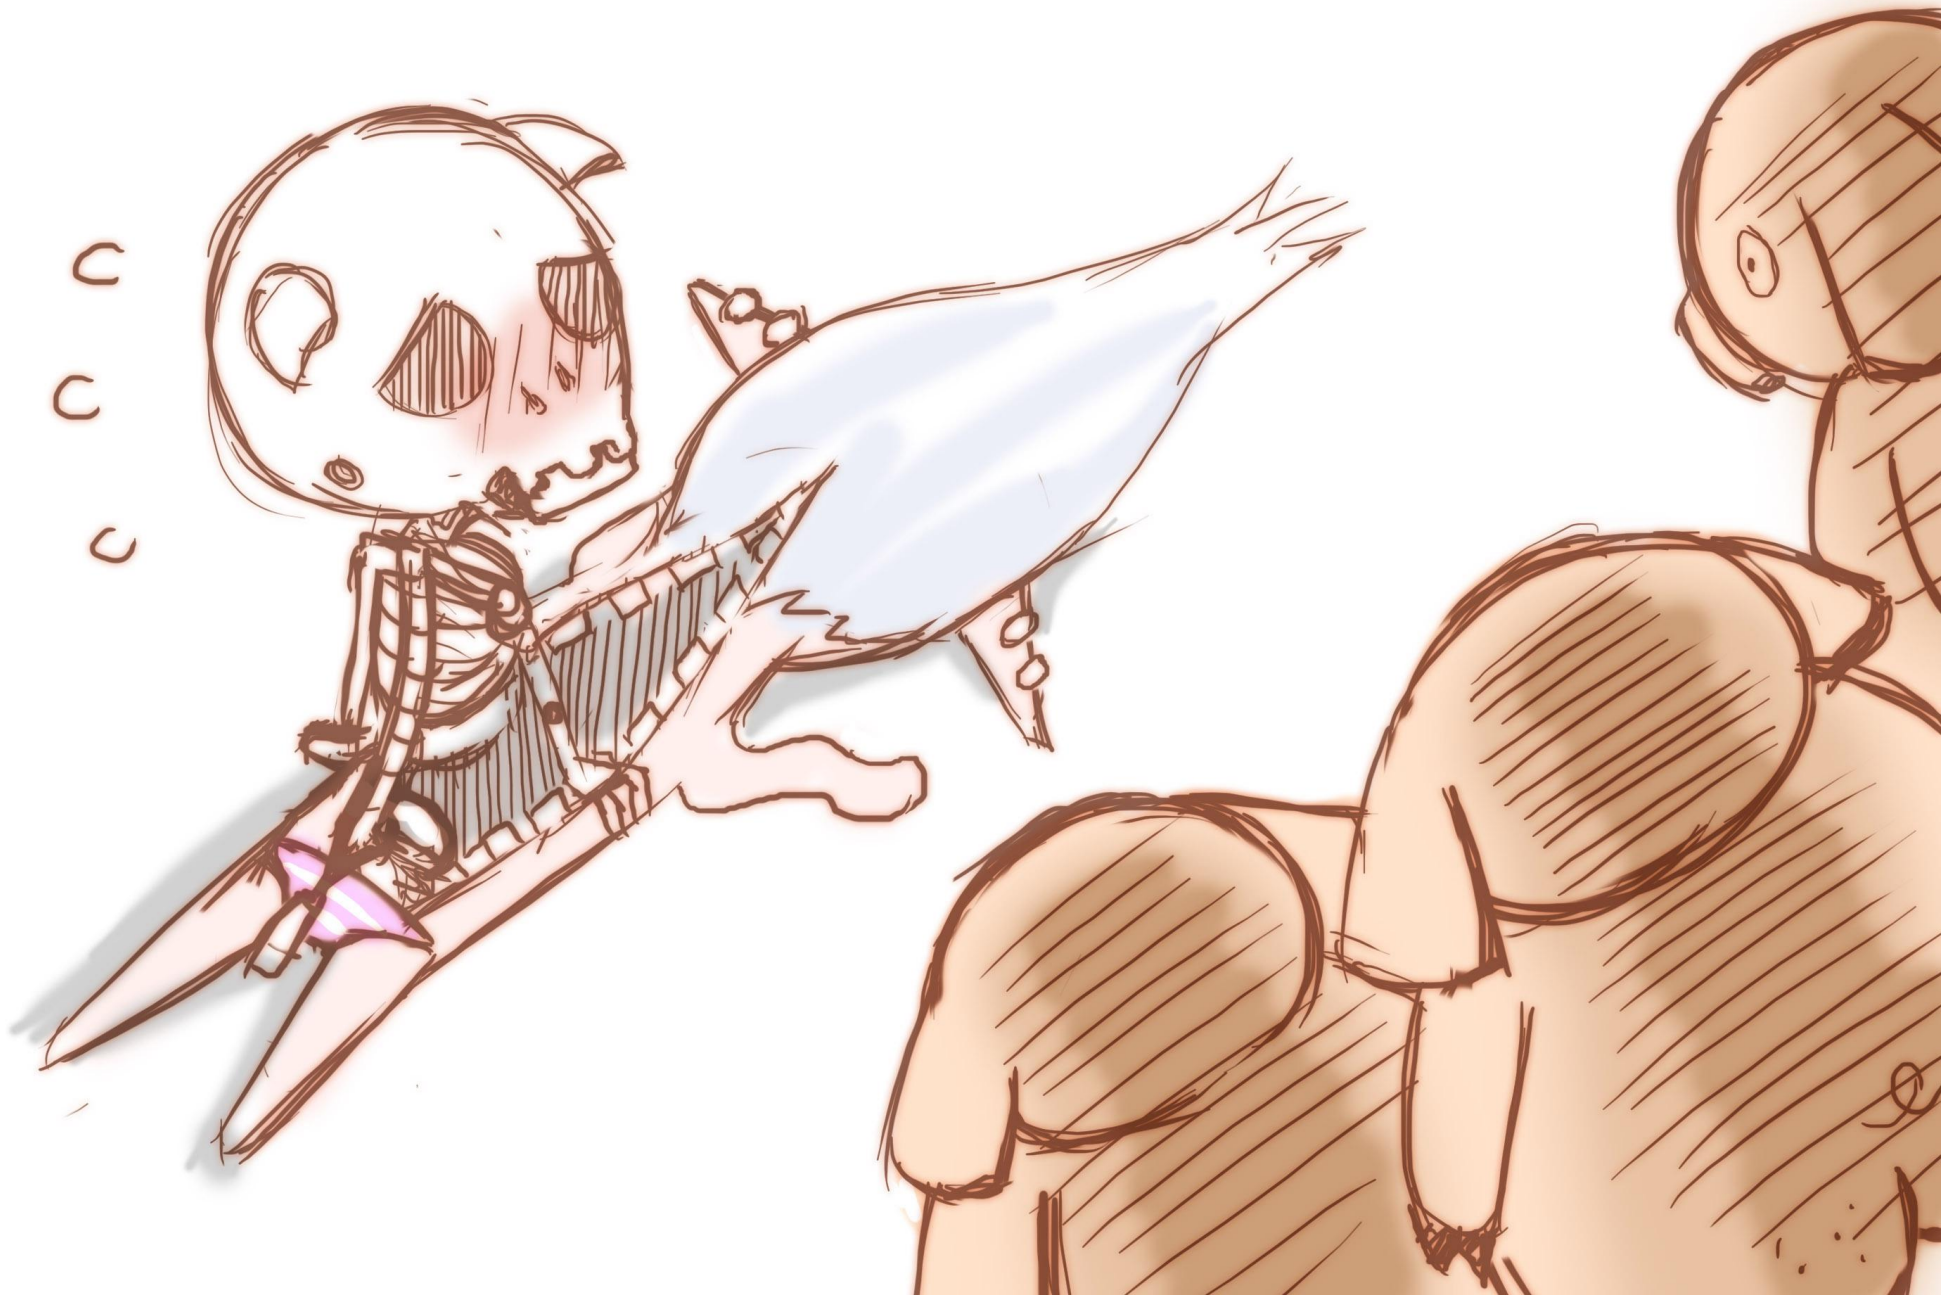

I was reluctant. But I thought, since I agreed
I will play by their rules.

For some reason, I just kept losing. And losing.

And so, feeling most embarrassed,
I removed the last of my clothes.

Although I lost, I got some new clothes from the pigs. So it wasn't a bad game.

