FEY PARTIES

SCROLL OF REVELATION #104

1. [Parents are Gone] A group of adolescent fey youths is throwing a wild party in the forest while their parents attend a royal ball. Their drinking games can be lethal to mere mortals.
2. [Murder Mystery] Someone was literally murdered at the dinner party, but the light-hearted fey are reacting to it how one might if they were hosting a murder mystery party.
3. [The Great Fey Bake Off] Members of a secret fey baking club are having a bake-off in an abandoned druid shrine. The loser will be baked into a pie and eaten by the others.
4. [Special Day!] A fey princess [resembles a tiny ladybug pixie who grows bigger the angrier she gets] is throwing her birthday party and expects an expensive gift from anyone who attends.
5. [Speed Dating] Roughly 20 of the most awkward and rejected members of fey society are on their way to a speed dating event that promises to "end their misery by any means necessary."
6. [Tea Party!] If you, by some miracle, receive an invitation to the Tea Spiller's exclusive afternoon tea party, you should expect to hear some of the juiciest gossip in all the realms. Just don't break etiquette or you'll serve the rest of your life as a waiter at future events.
7. [Bender] A failed satyr poet is wallowing in their misery and hidden stash of elven wine. Every hour spent drinking this wine with this satyr is the same as 1 year on the material plane.
8. [Coming Out] A massively popular drag queen elf is proudly putting on a "coming out of the wardrobe" party. It's an open invitation to both fey and mortals alike.
9. [Death Party] A blind gnome is in the final hours of his life, and he's invested 9 random guests to his death party where he plans to pass his fortune on to whoever he ends up liking the most.
10. [Prey Revealed!] 5 exceptionally talented fey rangers are pulling from a hat the type of creature they will be hunting this year. Potential prey includes a human, half-orc, tiefling, or dwarf.
11. [Band He!] A crew of back-stabbing fey pirates have come to shore for the first time in 100 years and are looking for some adventurers to party with [and kidnap as part of their crew].
12. [All Rights!] Anyone who can keep up with the archfey's festivities and stay awake to see the sunrise will receive their blessing. Anyone who can't will be cursed.
