

CHARACTER DEVELOPMENT

BY ... WELL, YOU GUYS!

We're back. In case you need a reminder of who Skelly is, here you go below. Some of the things will be changed though due to the questions of Phase Two, so let's get to it.

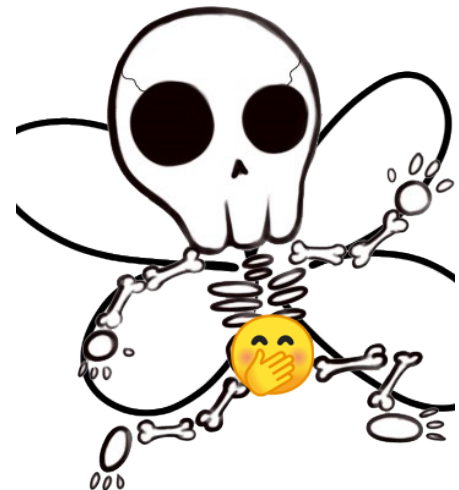

Skelly | Male | Faerie | #RichBitch

High possibility is that he hates you and everyone else, but hey maybe you can be the one to change his mind. Doubt it.

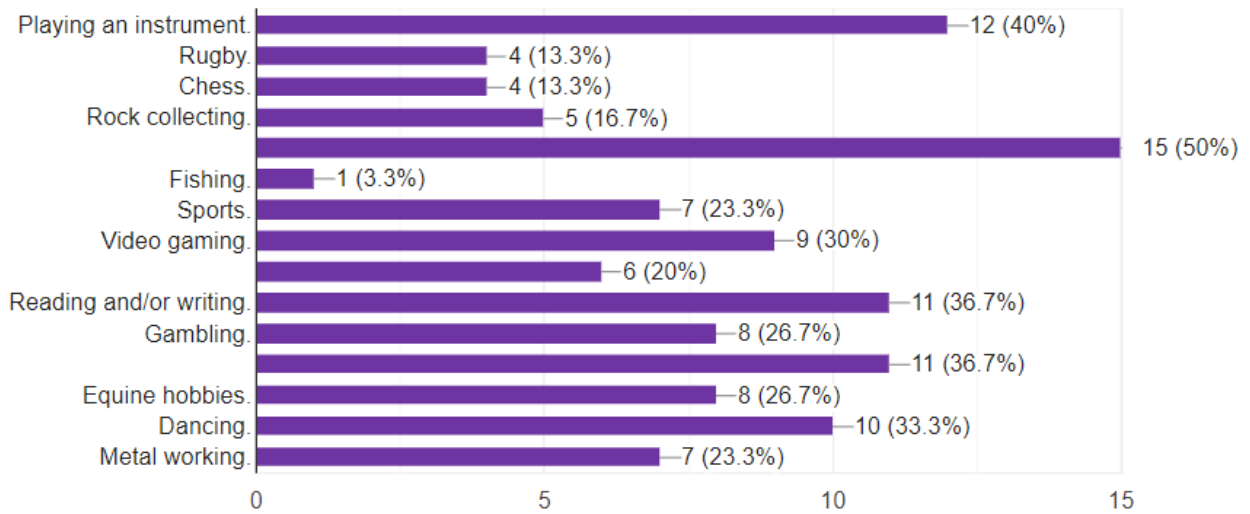

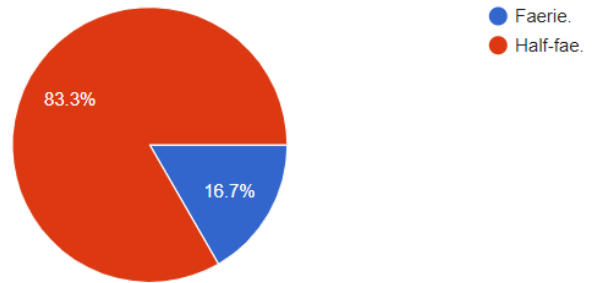

PHASE TWO: THE MEAT

The Meat. Yes, that's what I'm calling this. While Phase One is creating the bare minimum, Phase Two is coming up with the character themselves. Of course, the survey I sent you isn't about to be all the personality that our dear Skelly has, but it's ... The Meat (organs and blood and all that other shit but that doesn't have a nice ring to it). Some of the personality is going to have to come from me for obvious reasons. But I wanted you guys to have a wide range to make him like with zodiacs, traits, hobbies, and enneagrams.

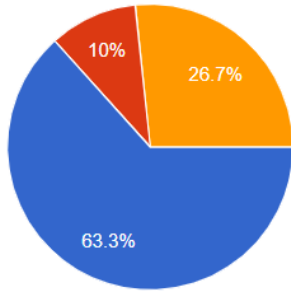

But let's get into the survey results. The last time we saw Skelly he was barely anything more than a man with wings and a penis, let us give him meat! Wow, that's some Hannibal Lecter stuff right there. I apologize. Here are the results of the second phase and the continuation of our dear Skelly.

I call this the 'did you want sexy time or not' choice ... 83% of you said yes ... gutter minds. But it has been decided and our dear Skelly is a half-fae. In phase three you'll be able to go deeper into what this may mean but let's continue on.

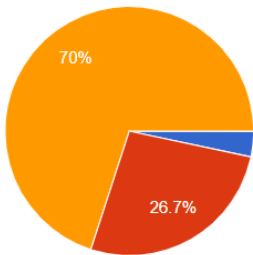

I'm adding this screenshot not only to show who won but also to show you guys how much you don't like fishing, like one person voted fishing and that was late in the survey! Come on, what's so bad about fishing?! You don't want Skelly whispering in your ear about the Bluegill and the Catfish? Anyway, the three hobbies that won were playing an instrument, drawing/sculpting/painting, and a tie between reading and writing or cooking. So, his hobbies will end up probably being playing an instrument (don't know which yet, probably multiple due to his parents), sculpting, and baking. I was going to throw in one of my own but you know what, I have all these LI's and I'd be damned if I don't give one of them equine hobbies and force my love of horses onto them. I also may throw a few more in for Skelly mostly due to no one having just three hobbies and that's it, and because his parents forcing him to do stuff he doesn't like.

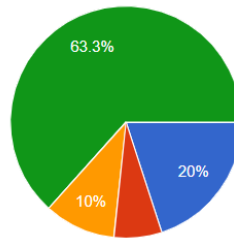

- Comfortable, charismatic. Knows how to maneuver it.
- Awkward, feels out of place. Tries to disappear.
- Hates it, verbally talks out against it. Just doesn't show up.

The next question asked about our lovely angry boy's ability to maneuver the social scene, comfortable and charismatic won. What this means basically is that many see him as refined in public. When he goes to big events and parties, he fits right in. It doesn't even seem like he's not one of them. It also means he knows how to play their little gossip game, he knows exactly what to say, when to say it. Which gives Skelly a pretty cool dynamic. If you read the last part of this development then you remember me thinking up situations with his family, most of them dealing with how much he didn't like it and was against it. This throws in the idea of, what if his family is proud of him. Maybe double life, he's actually a whole lot more depressed than they think? All because he wants to make them proud but can't stand what it takes. Moving on from that angst ...

- Younger, 16 - 17.
- Same age.
- Older, 19 - 21.

- Yes, something dealing with his family.
- No, he refuses to get one due to his family.
- He can't keep one.
- He has two jobs, the second one his parents know nothing about.

Skelly is going to end up being older than the MC which (after some deep thinking) does mean that he will stay in the 19-21 age range, probably 21 for the drinking aspect, but of course that's not set in stone. He will also have two jobs because you guys like drama. This also definitely makes me want to lean towards the whole double life part and 100% goes with a big theme for the story revolving around masks, and it's so cool that it worked out that way. So, shout out to you guys for wanting that drama!

I'm going to be honest about this next one. For a good amount of time, Leo was winning, it literally only lost by one point. I really wanted it to lose so I kinda need to high five whoever put that extra in for Gemini. I wanted anything but Leo to be honest. Why? 1. Because I feel like I write Leo characters too much and 2. Leo and angsty broody boi are so odd that I would go so far to say that he's a cusp child. So ... yea, I wanted anything but Leo and I was biting fingernails hoping it didn't win. Oops.

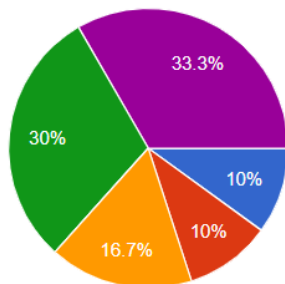

- 1. The Reformer
- 2. The Helper
- 3. The Achiever
- 4. The Individualist
- 5. The Investigator
- 6. The Loyalist
- 7. The Enthusiast
- 8. The Challenger
- 9. The Peacemaker

This winner is going to be an interesting one, the Loyalist won. For those who don't know enneagram personalities that well, or just need a refresher a Loyalist character fears being without support and are typically committed, security-oriented, engaging, responsible, anxious, and suspicious. Unlike the zodiac one, this one I wasn't really leaning towards a specific one and I'm kinda happy with this. I can already see it working with Skelly's personality and how all of this is shifting and making up a more solid background story.

Here is a question that I was really interested in seeing the results for. At first, the drug secret was winning. And then had sex with a

- Takes focus enhancing drugs.
- Bipolar.
- Cheated his way into top of class or college.
- He had sex with a higher up to get something he wanted.
- Has murdered someone.

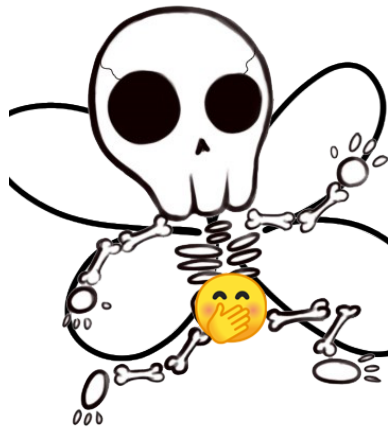

higher up just yeeted it out of existence. And just as it got comfortable, murdered someone came in and ruined its whole career, I loved it. With that being said you guys have no idea how bad I might make that secret, but I suspect you guys are trusting I don't make it to where he murdered a totally innocent little kid. stares at Superstition You guys have so much faith in me.

After this were the personalities and instead of posting those, I'll just tell you which ones won below because too many screenshots hurt my eyes:

- Confident 86.7% vs Meek 13.3%
- Quiet 60% vs Talkative 40%
- Pessimistic 73.3% vs Optimistic 26.7%
- Stubborn 82.8% vs Flexible 17.2%
- Funny 56.7% vs Serious 43.3%
- Polished 60% vs Crude 40%

The only one that I'm raising an eyebrow at is that Funny one, with how his personality is, making him funny will be a challenge but a challenge that I accept. I'm definitely seeing a bit of dark humor and maybe being humorous as his way of escaping and avoiding answers.

So, overview, bring your ass over here Skelly. Imagine him with meat because there's no way I'm going to add meat to him. Just no way.

Anyway, this is what his charts are looking like right now. In the same setup I put all of my characters in on the Builder.

- Age: 21
- Gender: Male | He/Him
- Zodiac: Gemini
- MBTI: I'll be coming up with this based off of personality and general attitude gathered. So far, he's leaning towards ISTP or INTJ, I haven't made up my mind yet
- Ethnicity: I'll be choosing this, mostly depending on appearance and how I just feel fits; #Diversity
- Species: Half-Fae
- Enneagram: The Loyalist – Fear of No Support
- Personality: Melancholic
- Family: Mother and Father or Father and Father. I'm really leaning towards the Dad x Dad with him.
- Background: Not Yet Done or Thought of, or both.

- Other Notes: Likes to sculpt and sketch, secret passion for baking, has two jobs and one of them his parents know nothing about, knows how to play a variety of instruments but the blank is his favorite. He has murdered someone for – (yea I'm not telling you guys why, pssh).

Skelly went from having nothing but a gender, species, and basic character to having a whole lot of traits and hobbies. Is this cool to anyone else or am I just such a sucker for character building that it seems so cool that we went from the below, to the above? I digress.

- Gender: Male
- Species: Faerie / half-fae (soon to be decided)
- Romance: Enemies to Lovers
- Character: Broody
- Background: Rich Family

As I said above, I'm really leaning towards him having two fathers and that he loves them so much that he is terrified of disappointing them. Maybe they have done everything in their power to get where they are and give him this life? Maybe this is all they really know and so they can't help but put pressure on their child? He wants to so desperately make them proud but perhaps not being himself is killing him? Maybe he even tried to speak to his fathers (yep, two dads, it's official) about this and they waved him off or scolded him? Maybe he never spoke to them about it.

IDEAS!!

Last phase is now here. We put together the skeleton and through some odd black magic, we gave him meat, organs, and skin. Now? Now we're going to prettify him. It's appearance and sexy bits time. Let's do this ... well, you guys do this ...