

AGE PROGRESSION NEWS SPECIAL REPORT: The 2022(?) Academy Awards

By ChronoEclipse

TEMPORAL CHAOS AT THE OSCARS!

This year's academy awards ceremony hit a major snafu when a fissure in time ripped over Los Angeles' Dolby Theatre causing the years 1990 and 2065 to bleed into our current one!

OLD HOLLYWOOD = RED CARPET NIGHTMARE!

Some of the hottest stars today were confronted with chilling sneak peaks at their golden years.

A Long Time From Now in a Galaxy Not So Far Away?

An 84 year old Natalie Portman gave Star Wars fans something to look forward to when she revealed to the attendant helping her down the aisle that she had recently filmed a cameo in the sci-fi franchise's newest sequel due to hit theaters in 44 years!

Said the attendant: "Yeah I really hope I'm still alive in 2066 to see Star Wars: The Heart of the Jedi but it was also weird helping Natalie Portman hobble along with her cane - I mean, she's only, like, supposed to be 5 years older than I am!"

OLD LADY BIRD!

Dame Saoirse Ronan shocked her younger self and other present day onlookers by looking absolutely stunning at the age of 71. She is evidently nominated for a best actor award for her role as a quirky Alzheimer's patient who escapes her nursing home to go on one last road trip with her life long friend (played by a 75 year old Margot Robbie) in the Greta Gerwig film 'False Teeth'.

Our present-day 27-year-old Saoirse had this to say: "I don't know what blows my mind more: That I'm the Angela Lansbury of the 2060s or that the UK is still a monarchy 40-something years from now."

BAD GRANDMA!

75-year old Kristen Stewart tore up the red carpet with her geriatric antics; flashing her saggy breasts at photographers and insisting that her young present day fiance Dylan Meyer make out with her. “It’s not cheating babe, I’m still your wife just like, way older...” She was heard rattling. The elder Kristen is up for 2 oscars in 2065 - one supporting actor nomination for her role as Older Billie Eilish in the 2064 biopic ‘Bad Guy’ and another best actress nomination for her role as Barbera Bush in the historic drama ‘The Bush’s Bush’, where she’ll be up against her younger self who is nominated for playing Princess Di in Spencer.

WINTER IS COMING!

Grandparents-to-be Sophie Turner and Joe Jonas got to meet their future granddaughter Winter Jonas who at age 26 is up for her first Oscar win. The meeting was a bit uncomfortable for all involved considering that Winter's father is still in Sophie's womb!

BLAST FROM THE PAST?

The awkward interactions didn't all come from the future! Some stars' pasts came back to haunt them like the 19 year old Winona Ryder who spent much of the lead-up to the ceremony flirting with her Stranger Things co-stars who she was now around the same age as or younger!

OLDER WOMAN!

And no moment was more cringe than when a 24-year-old Keifer Sutherland straight from the red carpet in 1990 put his arm around the waist of 55-year-old Julia Roberts, not realizing that pair hadn't been a couple in nearly 3 decades!

“Keifer, you cheated on me back in ‘92 and now I’m old enough to be your mother!” The Notting Hill star could be heard scolding her much younger ex-fiance.

SENIOR MOMENT!

The attendees all had a good laugh when Anne Hathaway was awarded a lifetime achievement award and her present-day 39-year-old self went up to accept the honor.

“Oh wow this is... crazy. I never expected to receive a Lifetime Achievement award at this point in my career... I mean, I’ve only been acting in Hollywood for like 20 years and I’m still actively working so...” The Devil Wears Prada star rambled into the microphone before being interrupted by her future 83-year-old self.

“Oh... that makes a lot more sense! And I must say - I look really good for 80-something. Have I had a lot of work done?” The younger Hathaway asked.

“No dear, this is all natural. And I’ve earned every wrinkle.” The elder Hathaway replied to a standing ovation from the audience.

UNKNOWN TEENAGER or A-LIST ELDER?

The Best Actress award went to 60-year-old Aaliyah Jackson to the confusion of most of the audience in attendance. It wasn't until during her speech when she referenced acting in high school theater productions back in the early '20s that everyone realized that the gray haired star accepting the award had been born in 2005.

According to a wizened 75-year-old Emma Watson who spoke to this reporter after the event Ms. Jackson is considered to be the Meryl Streep of the 2060s and this would have been her 5th oscar if it hadn't technically been her first! As a follow up with Emma Watson she confirmed that she is playing Professor McGonagall in a reboot of the Harry Potter films.

The rest of the night was surreal though largely enjoyable - Driving Miss Daisy won best picture for a second time - a first in the Academy's history and currently being contentiously disputed; no one from the original production team was in attendance so Morgan Freeman accepted the award in their honor and said: "This is... unexpected. It's nice to see some of you young folks that I've had the pleasure of acting beside in recent years looking like white haired old geezers like me!... Though I've heard from many of my co-stars from 1990 that I don't look like I've aged a day since then! Haha!"

Best Director went to a woman who won't be born for another 15 years. No word on whether the celebrities were successfully brought back to their proper times but one of the afterparties also acted as a 90th birthday bash for Drew Barrymore.

We'll have to see what happens at this year's Emmys.

APN is a subsidiary of the Chrono Eclipse Foundation.