A

TYPE: LONGSWORD
RARIETY: VERY RARE

Ripped from the clutches of a divine servant, this longsword is teeming with radiant energy. Holding it in your hand causes a feeling of warmth to rush over your body and fills your mind with images of righteous warriors defending all that is holy. Its handle is wrapped with a cloth bearing a long forgotten prayer that imbues your swordsmanship with new abilities. You have a +1 bonus to attack and damage rolls made with this magic weapon.

At the start of combat while wielding this weapon, you can choose to take on the blade fervour or sharpened defense stance. You can swap between these stances in combat using a bonus action. While in the stance indicated, you gain the following attributes.

Blade Fervour. You imbue your blade with divine magics causing the attack and damage bonus to increase to +2. Additionally, the blade deals radiant damage instead of slashing damage while in this stance.

Sharpened Defense. You take up a defensive posture causing a divine shield to appear around you. As a reaction, you can add a +2 bonus to your AC against an attack that would otherwise hit you. If this bonus causes the enemy's attack to miss, your stance automatically changes to blade fervour at the start of your turn. Stance switching in this way does not consume a bonus action.
