

Prologue

Ding!

The oven door opened and a woman in a white and blue dress reached two oven mitt covered hands in to grab the tray of cookies, pulling it out of the oven. MegaGal closed her eyes and took a deep breath through her nose of the freshly baked goods she was holding.

An arm reached around her shoulders from behind her, the hand twirling a finger in MegaGal's pearl necklace. "Are those as good as they smell?" May asked, leaning her head into MegaGal's.

MegaGal giggled, bumping May backwards with her rear. Turning around, she couldn't help but stare at May and smile. On the kitchen radio, the sweet melody of Judy Garland's 'Somewhere Over the Rainbow' was playing while they looked into each other's eyes. It was perfect. Her soulmate and her living together in their own house, not a care in the world.

May shared her feelings and reached forward, putting her hands on MegaGal's shoulders. She leaned in for a kiss and May did the same.

But something stopped them.

Both of the girls looked down to see their breasts bumping into each other, with MegaGal's chest much larger than it was a second ago, completely obscuring the tray of cookies she was holding. Her dress' buttons were straining against her flesh, as if she had barely been able to get it on in the first place. Before either of them could say anything, her breasts doubled in size, bursting through the buttons as the dress split open. MegaGal jumped with shock as she dropped the tray, the cookies falling haphazardly to the ground and May being pushed back even more.

"May, I..." MegaGal said, concern covering her face. She suddenly struggled to make words come out as she felt her pearl necklace tightening around her neck. Trying not to panic, she went to take her oven mitts off so she could unfasten her jewelry, but found her oven mitts were now extremely tight as well, and couldn't even get them off. With panic now clear across her face, she looked over at May, only to see that instead of being the same height, she was now a good two heads taller than the redhead. MegaGal winced as the necklace got even tighter before it broke apart completely, sending the pearls bouncing in every direction. The seams on her oven mitts tore as her hands out grew the small things, and her breasts doubled in size again, wobbling against her thighs.

May had backed up to the kitchen table, staring at MegaGal's giant tits. Her jaw hung open, being unable to believe what she was seeing. "What's-what's happening?"

Before MegaGal could answer, her breasts began to grow even more. They surged forward, hitting the floor, their growth causing them to slide across the tiles towards May. Pushing the table away as she backed up against the wall, she couldn't help but notice that each of MegaGal's nipples were now bigger than her head.

At this point, MegaGal's breasts now filled half the kitchen, and she had grown in height enough that her head was hitting the ceiling fan. She bit her lip hard as she felt a mix of fear and arousal, especially with her nipples pushing into the wall. May stood in a small pocket between her tits and the wall, being surrounded by flesh, a pocket that was continuing to shrink as MegaGal's boobs showed no sign of slowing their growth.

Swallowing hard, MegaGal leaned forward, reaching her hand towards May. "M-May! Grab my hand!"

The girl nodded as the cleavage closed around her. She tried her best to wade into it, trying to drag herself through the boobs like she was making her way through quicksand. She leaned forward as much as she could, touching the tips of MegaGal's fingers with her own, and MegaGal gasped as her own fingers were pushed away as her own tits had started sliding her backwards against the floor. Her red heels snapped as this happened, her feet breaking the shoes apart shortly afterwards. MegaGal could only watch helplessly as her breasts rose upwards, slowly obscuring May from view. At the same time, she absolutely hated how good it felt as it happened.

Her dress was barely a miniskirt at this point as her butt bumped against the opposite wall, and it shredded moments after as her whole body outgrew it.

"Hold on May, I... Uhhh!" MegaGal gasped as her own boobs started to push her own body against the kitchen counter. They were filling the room, and she could feel all four walls touching her sensitive skin.

"Someday I'll wish upon a star, wake up where the clouds are far behind"

The song abruptly stopped and sputtered as MegaGal's breasts cracked the device's wooden frame, the lights flickering briefly before it died. All the while, she couldn't help but stare at her girlfriend's arm wriggling, quickly disappearing into her rising cleavage.

Her muffled yells were drowned out as the walls around her started to groan at the incredible amount of pressure begging for release.

At her current height, she could feel her bare ass against the kitchen window. It had grown significantly as well, and she could feel the cracks forming in the glass against her skin. Putting her arms on the kitchen cabinets behind her, she tried her best to push herself forward into her own breasts, but it was no use. The boobs pushed her back as they filled up her view, and the glass shattered behind her. Everything started to come undone as the house's foundations began to crack. The edges of the roof crumpled inwards as the walls were pushed to their limit, collapsing to the ground as the massive mammarys continued to swell. MegaGal covered her head as debris fell on top of her, and by the time the dust cleared, she saw her boobs were already covering the entire front lawn, stretching out onto the street. She picked pieces of wood out of her cleavage, tossing them to the side where the remains of her house lay, trying her best to reach May.

A car slammed on its brakes in surprise as the tits spread in every direction. Without warning, another car from behind them slammed into it, pushing the first car into the soft flesh. The man driving it got out in a panic as the breast quickly grew over the hood of the car, crushing the engine. He ran as the car that had hit him sped into reverse, careening with another car that hadn't stopped in time.

MegaGal couldn't see any of this, only feel the cars as her tits flattened them, but she ignored it as best as she could, trying to focus on the still struggling form she could feel deep within her cleavage. Since she was now bigger than her house had been, maybe she'd be able to reach far enough between her breasts to reach May. She shoved her arms in front of her, trying her best to pull them apart to no avail.

On the other side of her, one of her nipples plowed through a house, causing MegaGal to whimper and close her eyes at the sensitive feeling. Upon opening them, she looked at her surroundings. A massive wall of breasts continued to grow in front of her, dwarfing any of the buildings that she herself was now much bigger than. Taking a step back, she felt a tree snap like a twig beneath her as her foot slammed down.

"Help! Someone help!" MegaGal shouted, frantically looking around. But anyone that could hear her was running for their lives as her growth seemed to accelerate, only causing MegaGal to get even more turned on as she could feel the entire suburb getting covered by her breasts. She absolutely hated how pleasurable everything was feeling, and took deep breaths, trying to level her head.

She could fix this, right? Right? Everything could go back the way it was. Though these comforting thoughts seemed less and less realistic as she continued to grow. It was at a point that she didn't even know what she was feeling under her tits anymore as they rapidly expanded. She buried her face in her cleavage, silently praying it would stop. A wet feeling made her look down and she saw that her feet were now in a large body of water. That didn't make any sense, she lived in the mid-west with no lakes anywhere, or...

She felt her stomach turn as she realized that it wasn't a lake, but the ocean. Looking around she saw that she was high above the clouds, and the horizon started to curve more and more as she grew. Her tits seemed impossibly large in front of her, and she could only guess how much of the country they were covering. That is, until she felt her nipples dipping into the cold water of the Pacific. They immediately hardened at the touch of the ocean, and MegaGal couldn't take it anymore. Pressing her face into one of her tits, she moaned as fluid started to soak her legs.

Despite already growing at a fairly steady rate, her tits exploded in size because of this. They quickly covered the rest of the continent, growing over it as MegaGal lost herself in pleasure at the feeling of her erect nipples rising into the warm sea air. She slid fingers into her wet crotch as her toes scraped across the Atlantic Ocean, digging themselves into the coasts of Africa and Europe as they reached them.

Almost unconsciously, MegaGal's tongue rolled out of her mouth, and she tilted her head up, siding it across the skin of her breast. There was a voice screaming at her to stop in her mind, but she wasn't listening to it anymore. The feeling of her tits starting to spill out over the planet was just too much for her as she shoved fingers into her dripping pussy.

This continued on until she hit her head, snapping her out of her lust for a moment. Looking behind her, over her extremely large ass, she could see she was no longer standing on anything, her legs floating aimlessly behind her, and saw that she had hit her head on the moon. Coming to her senses, she started to panic as she felt the earth get swallowed up into the underside of her breasts as they outgrew the entire thing, each one now much bigger than the planet.

"I can fix this!" MegaGal tried to say, but no words came out. It was deathly quiet as she hopelessly slammed her fists into her own breasts, feeling the earth get smaller and smaller. "I'm sorry!" She tried to scream, reaching an arm as deep into her cleavage as she could. Tears started to well up in her eyes as she realized her breasts were so big that she couldn't even feel the earth anymore. It was gone, and May with it. Her breasts continued to swell into the vastness of space, and MegaGal could only watch in despair as they grew endlessly. The view of the sun disappeared behind the curve of her breasts as she was cast into complete darkness.

The last thing that went through her mind were the last few lines from 'Somewhere Over the Rainbow'

If happy little bluebirds fly,

Beyond the rainbow,
Why, oh, why can't I?

Chapter 1

MegaGal's eyes snapped open. The first thing she saw was her own breasts filling her vision. They were huge, way bigger than she was, and she was laying on top of them, her toes barely touching the ground. Multiple trees in the forest had been flattened by them, and she momentarily panicked, but breathed a sigh of relief once she saw May's house down below her, though her boobs were closer to it than she would've liked. Closer to the ground she felt someone's cool touch on her skin, and she looked over her breasts to see May standing on the ground, a hand on one of her giant boobs.

The girl was wearing a bath robe that was barely containing beach ball sized breasts that she hadn't had the day before. "Morning Mega. Everything ok?" The girl softly asked.

"I didn't wake you, did I?"

"It's fine, I shouldn't be sleeping in that long anyway," May chuckled. There was some hesitation in her voice as she looked MegaGal in the eyes. "Was it another bad dream?" She asked, a twinge of sadness in her voice.

The moment hung there with MegaGal not answering as she thought just how to respond. She didn't want her to worry, but she also didn't want to lie to her. "Nothing I can't handle," MegaGal tried to reassure her with a weak smile, "But thanks."

May smiled up at her, patting her skin some more, and then her smile turned mischievous as she looked down at her own chest. "Hey, it can't be all bad if it did this, right?" She added as she wobbled boobs back and forth.

This elicited a snort from MegaGal. "Do you think Vex will notice?" She teased.

Feeling that she had at least lifted her spirits a little, May chuckled in response and started walking back towards her house, adding, "Let's go find out. I'll see if she's awake yet."

"I'll join in a second," MegaGal said, starting the very slow process of shrinking her breasts. As she felt herself slowly descending while she focused to compress herself, she could make out a pulsing red glow from between her boobs. Reaching one hand into her cleavage, she felt around until she found the source of the light. Pulling it out, she realized it was her visor. It must have fallen off during her growth spurt. Figuring she better see what they wanted, she slipped the visor onto her face.

"Morning."

"And good morning to you." Indie's voice replied in her ear. "Was looking at the readings when we got a bit of a growth spike on our sensors, so I thought I'd check in with you."

"Oh, it's nothing, just one of those days where you wake up on a giant bed of your own boobs. Y'know?"

Indie smirked as he took a sip of his coffee, "Can't say I do. Still, once you're good to go, Rook wants you and your guest to head out towards the hammers. I'll let him know you'll be a sec."

MegaGal looked at her hand and gave him a thumbs up before lifting her visor back up.

Inside, Hailey yawned as the sun hit her eyes. Getting up to stretch, she took a peek out the window and did a double take at the sight of MegaGal resting on her breasts. She stared out at her with wide eyes as MegaGal was looking around, and suddenly the huge girl locked eyes with her through the small window. MegaGal sheepishly smiled and waved, prompting Hailey to wave back with a smirk.

Never a dull moment with her, huh?

Hailey chuckled as she shook her head, walking away from the window and through the bedroom door. Walking towards the kitchen, she was met with another surprise. May was walking through the patio door in a bath robe, which normally wouldn't have been strange, but the fact that May's breasts were each as big as beach balls, barely being contained by the bathrobe was certainly eyebrow raising for Hailey.

Upon seeing Hailey, her face reddened. She scrambled to try and pull the bathrobe up somewhat, though it didn't do much good. They refused to be fully contained, shaking and jiggling as she repositioned herself. Blowing a stray hair out of her face, she gave up, putting her hands up in defeat. "I really wish I had shapeshifting clothes like you do," May said, putting a hand on cheek.

Hailey sat down and began pouring herself a bowl of cheerios. "Dare I ask...?"

May frowned, rolling her head towards the patio doors. "I assume you saw Mega this morning?"

Hailey nodded, pouring milk into the bowl.

"Well..." May hesitated, but continued, "Sometimes she gets these nightmares. And sometimes the nightmares... leak out into the waking world. Typically, it only affects her, but every so often..." May gestured to her breasts, pursing her lips. "Don't get me wrong, it's fun to be like this for a bit, but I just feel bad for her. She doesn't tell me much about what happens in the nightmares."

Hailey frowned, looking out at MegaGal who's breasts had shrunk enough to put her feet flat on the ground, and she was stretching a leg over towards the house, trying to pull her shoes over to her with her toes.

Deciding to change topics, Hailey looked at May and smiled. "You look good though," she commented, trying her best not to just stare directly at how big her tits were. It was a weird feeling not having the biggest boobs in the room. Vex immediately picked up on this thought, and Hailey suddenly felt her pajama top stretching outwards for effect, her breasts pushing her own bowl of cereal forward slightly as they matched the size of May's knockers.

"Oh, real mature Vex," Hailey scoffed, rolling her eyes. "Well, at least now we match."

May chuckled and bit her lip. "This isn't even the biggest they've been. Hold on, I wanna show you something."

She moved from the door and waved her arms to steady her balance as her breasts wobbled all over the place. Slowly turning around, she carefully waddled over to the couch, still very disoriented by the large weight on her chest. Hailey smiled and picked her cereal bowl up, following her over.

May picked her purse up and plopped herself down onto the cushion, causing one of her breasts to slip out of the bathrobe. She immediately covered her nipple with her purse, red faced as she muttered under her breath, tucking it back in the robe with her other hand.

"A couple years back, a few months after I had met MegaGal, there was... an incident," May said, rifling through her purse. "Where are... ah, here we go." She pulled a handful of polaroids out, fanning them out in her hands to show Hailey.

Oh wow

Hailey's eyes went wide as she looked at the photos. The first one had May standing in front of a wall of her own breasts, posing beside some airport workers who were sitting in the back of a truck. The next one was similar, though instead of the airport workers, MegaGal's visored face was poking into the frame with a huge smile, leaning her head against the massive breasts.

The next one was from a super high point of view from above, giving her a good view of just how colossal May's breasts had been, filling most of the airport. The last one was a zoom in of May hoisted 20 feet up in the air, just between a massive wall of her own breasts, looking up with a smile at whoever was taking the picture.

"Those last ones are snapshots from Mega's visor. She managed to convince one of her friends up there to print them off for me," May said, putting the photos back into her purse.

I can think of a certain someone who would be incredibly jealous of her

Hailey softly snorted at the thought of one of her villains, Syren, being super upset at seeing these photos, knowing there was another woman with tits bigger than her own monstrously huge pair.

"So should I even bother asking how it happened?" Hailey asked, crossing her arms. She really had no idea what MegaGal's actual powers were at this point but wouldn't be surprised if she had also caused that somehow.

"It's kind of a long story, but I guess we've got time," May said, leaning back on the couch. "So, it started with a kaiju Mega was fighting. But then this... gross... parasite or whatever sorta broke off of it, and..."

Trailing off, the girl was interrupted as a rumble sounded outside, glasses clinking together in the shelves as MegaGal laid down outside to put her face up next to the window behind the couch May was sitting on. Her breasts were back to a manageable size, though still big enough for them to bulge up to her chin from her position. The giantess smiled, finishing off May's story with a noble cadence in her voice, "...And then one thing led to another, and eventually May, our valiant hero, endeavored to have the biggest boobs in all the land, her wish was granted, despite destroying a classroom, and flashing the whole school..."

"Mega stooooop-" May protested and laughed as she opened the window behind her.

"What? I'm just skipping to the good parts," She teased back before her eyes flicked towards Hailey.

"Sleep well Vex?"

"Yeah. It helps that I had something huge blocking the sun from my window," Hailey replied with a wink.

MegaGal giggled playfully and said, "Well you're welcome for helping you get some extra shut eye. You're gonna need it for today."

May leaned back in the couch, asking "What do you mean?"

"Vex is comin' with me!"

"Coming where?" Hailey asked, cocking her head to the side.

"I've been put on patrol duty today, and it's gonna be waaay more fun with someone to talk to." MegaGal said, rolling her eyes for effect.

"Oh... ok," May replied. There was a hint of concern in her voice as she continued, "I just thought it might be more fun for you and Hailey to just hang around today, y'know? Just the three of us."

Four of us

Hailey ignored the symbiote's comment, adding, "It's ok May. Until we figure out how to get me home, I'm stuck here, so I'm sure we'll have time to chat more." Then she walked to the patio door, her pajamas already shifting into her suit as her breasts got even bigger than they already had been.

May was still worried about how MegaGal might be feeling after the dream, but she didn't want to say anything. Though she did feel better that she wouldn't be alone. "I'll hold you to that then. We've got a lot of stories to share," May said, cracking a small smile as she turned the TV on with a remote and tossed the remote onto the small table beside the couch.

As Vex walked outside and began to grow, MegaGal peered back into the window to reassure May, sensing her concern. "I'm good May, promise. And I'll bring home Vex safe and sound. We'll be gone most of the day, so you can..." her voice trailed off as she got a peek at the television. On it was a newscaster summarizing the previous day's festivities, and MegaGal only got a glimpse of the generously proportioned version of herself at the parade before May scrambled to change the station, stretching out to grab the remote where she had tossed it, plopping onto the couch with her butt up in the air as she frantically flipped channels. MegaGal narrowed her eyes at May who tried to act as if nothing had happened. Putting her finger to her visor, she asked, "Luna? Can you pull up a broadcast of the local news for me?"

May turned looked at MegaGal, a very guilty, but playful look on her face. She grabbed the drapes and slowly slid them shut across the window as MegaGal's request was answered and she got a full look at how Vex had looked in her disguise on the display of her visor.

"That's how you looked in front of everyone?! My butt's huge!" MegaGal exclaimed. A giant finger pushed the drapes aside and poked May in the back of the head. The redhead couldn't help but giggle. "Oh I can read the headlines now..." MegaGal moaned, resting the back of her hand on her forehead for emphasis, "MegaButt wobbles through Little Hill, causes earthquake!" Standing up onto her feet, she looked at Vex with a raised eyebrow.

Vex planted her 4 hands on her hips, insisting, "It was two against one, alright? It was out of my hands."

She leaned in, a smug look on her face. "And what about the boobs?"

Hailey's freckled face reddened a bit as she ran a hand through her hair. "That... okay that was me."

"Gosh you guuuys, I was out there stopping a hurricane with my bare hands! All the while my local image... tarnished." MegaGal exclaimed as dramatically as she could, starting to feign sobbing, "And Vex just went along with it! And...! You know what, hold that thought." MegaGal paused as she looked over her shoulder, looking at May through the window and giving her a wink.

MegaGal's ass suddenly grew, plumping up to the same size Vex had made it in the footage, and she hip checked Vex playfully.

"Hey!" Vex said as she was bumped.

"That was for the ice-cream!" MegaGal said, laughing.

The giantess attempted to stifle her laughter, looking back down at her ass seeing as it was still jiggling. She reached back, placing her hands on her huge buns to stop their movement before looking back down at May and giving her a playful gaze, giving her a wave and mouthing "Bye-bye" before laughing again.

Pulling her suit leggings down, out of her ass crack, she gestured back to Vex with a smile "Shall we?"

May bit her lip as she watched the two giant girls walk through the forest, and turned around, clicking the TV off. She carefully stood up, carrying her two huge breasts in her arms and giving them a squeeze with her hands. "Might as well have some fun while this lasts," she said to herself as she made her way to the stairs to go fetch her special box.

Chapter 2

"So what's your favorite one then?" Vex asked, stepping over a river as the two girls continued to walk.

"They've probably made movies since then that have been better, but Snow White still holds a special place in my heart," MegaGal responded with a shrug.

Hailey nodded, "Fair. Vex was sure Alice in Wonderland would've been your favorite though. For obvious reasons."

MegaGal playfully bit her lip. "Second favorite."

They had been traveling for a while now and had gotten to talking about other movies they had seen, discovering that they both had an affinity for Disney's animated ones specifically. They were roughly 10 or so miles from the city when Leslie's voice suddenly crackled into MegaGal's earpiece.

"Remember Mega, we've prepared a list of questions for you to ask Vex."

"Don't worry guys, I've got things covered," she replied, putting a finger on the side of her visor.

Penny smirked, "You said something similar when you started and instead you talked about Disney movies for an hour. Lemme guess, television shows are next on the agenda?"

MegaGal rolled her eyes and smiled at the sarcastic response, and put a hand on one Vex's shoulders, "Hey Vex, I've got some very important official questions to ask you."

"Oh?"

Clearing her throat, MegaGal's expression turned to a deadpan one as she quickly spoke in a monotone voice, "What is your name, date of birth, home address, telephone and fax number?" She finished the question with a playful wink at Vex.

Vex paused for a second, before stifling a laugh. "This has to be your worst attempt at guessing my name yet."

Shrugging, MegaGal continued walking. "Well, I tried. This girl's like a fortress."

Rook softly blew air through his nose. They knew they weren't going to get information out of her that easy, and the answers didn't even particularly matter if she really was from a different universe as she claimed. It was mostly just a method of seeing if they could work with her. Leaning into the mic, he said, "You'll be coming up on the first checkpoint fairly soon Mega. We'll be going through all of them today."

"Roger that. Patrol duty officially started!"

"What exactly is patrol duty anyway?" Vex asked, looking around.

"Aside from being first responders to any potential inter-dimensional alien invasions, it's fairly simple work."

Vex raised an eyebrow, shooting her a look.

MegaGal giggled, "Don't worry, I'll walk you through the process as we go. Honestly I'm just excited about having a new teammate to help stave off boredom!"

"Alien invasions are boring?"

"I was kidding! Well, mostly anyway. Today is already looking to be a pretty relaxed, low-risk kind of day. Plenty of time for us to chat some more!"

"Alright, so if patrol duty is apparently so 'boring', do you mind answering some more questions about this whole operation you've got going on here?"

"How about this; Ask any question you'd like, and I'll answer it. Buuut, I wanna learn more about you in return. Luna is dying to know what your fax number is," She teased back.

Vex smiled, softly chuckling, "I feel like I shouldn't tell you too much about the future, but I have literally never even seen a fax machine. On the topic of Luna though, I guess that's my first question. Am I allowed to know more about them? May said their base is on the moon or something?"

Trying not to groan, MegaGal turned her head away, rubbing her temple as she muttered under her breath, "Such a loud mouth for such a little woman..."

"I'd really prefer you not answer that Mega," Amie interrupted with a sigh. "This operation is on a need-to-know basis for a reason."

It was time to dial it back a bit. While MegaGal knew she could be a bit of a tease, she'd been working with Amie and the others long enough to know there was a time and place for her shenanigans.

"Luna base is actually just a top secret base here on earth that monitors stuff through a satellite, and it's called Luna because of the satellite's orbit."

That was the 'official' story anyway.

One of Hailey's blonde eyebrows raised at that response, "Soooo, you weren't locked up on the moon?"

MegaGal nervously chuckled. While she herself wasn't really against Vex knowing some of the details, she knew that Luna base preferred to keep things confidential.

"Of course not! I'm just a local girl who happened to get exposed to some funny... glowing rocks that made me grow! I definitely did not spend years hidden away on the moon."

She tapped her visor as she said this, winking at Vex.

As far as cover stories went, that one really wasn't that believable. Especially since MegaGal had already told her in private that she wasn't quite human. Vex just nodded in response, like it wasn't full of shit.

I guess she doesn't wanna get in too much trouble with her team

Watching the screen, Amie rubbed one of her temples. This is why she was against MegaGal telling anyone their secrets, even someone like May. After a moment, Penny turned in her chair, giving Amie a look. "You're doing the thing again."

Amie hadn't even noticed she was drumming her fingers at a rapid pace on the console, and stopped as soon as Penny mentioned it, ignoring the comment. Amie could feel Rook judging her, sitting in his chair with his arms crossed, and she turned to him, "If you have something to say, say it."

"I know you mean well," Rook said, leaning back into his chair. "But Mega trusts Vex, and I trust Mega."

"I do too, but I just need some more... reassurance," Amie insisted, rolling her shoulders. God knows she could use a smoke right now.

"Ooo, my turn for a question!" MegaGal insisted, lightly shoving Vex's shoulder.

I mean that was hardly an answer, but ok

"How did you and Vex meet? Did a meteor crash land into your house? Were you chosen by a dying warrior to carry on his legacy? Did you rescue her from an evil science lab?"

Vex had to put two hands up as if to tell her to slow down. "I wish it was something that exciting. Sure, we have superheroes in my world and stuff, but I literally found her in a thrift store if you can believe that. I just saw this sleek looking suit in a box and bought it! And she has no memory of how she got there or who her old host was!"

"No way! That's so mysterious!" MegaGal said, wiggling her fingers. "And I gotta know, what other kinds of superheroes do you have? Surely you've gotta have big team ups with them!"

Hailey nervously laughed, "Well, uh, there's this big popular hero team called the Defenestrators, but they operate out of the East coast. I've never met them."

I don't think they even know who we are

It was true, Hailey certainly didn't consider herself anywhere near the same league as they were. Sure, she liked to claim that she was Seattle's biggest hero, but that's because she was Seattle's only hero. The Defenestrators were made up of super geniuses, war heroes, and even someone who claimed to be a literal goddess.

"Well, I think you'd be a great addition to their team."

"Oh god no, I'm nowhere near a big enough deal to even consider myself on their level."

"I dunno, you seem pretty big to me," MegaGal smirked, lining up a hand to the top of their heads, measuring them.

Vex scrunched up her nose at the comment. "Ha ha, very funny. Seriously though, if anything, you're much more qualified than I am to be on their team. You obviously far surpass me in the growing department, you got that whole fire punch thing, and hell, I don't even speak another language, and you're apparently also fluent in German!"

"I know a lot more languages than just English and German! El español es un idioma muy divertido."

"Well look at Miss Universe over here, speaks 20 languages, can play the trumpet and wants world peace!" Vex said with a laugh, waving her hands for emphasis.

"102."

"What?"

"102 languages. But I can't play the trumpet!" She giggled.

"Of course, my bad."

"I can play the drums though!" And MegaGal drummed her hands on her thighs and laughed some more.

As if copying her, the symbiote used Vex's lower arms to drum the sides of her own boobs, eliciting another giggle from MegaGal.

They had been chatting with each other so much that Vex hadn't noticed their surroundings had started to change. The skies had been relatively clear, but up ahead there were some strange looking dark clouds. And the lush forest and green hills they had been walking through had been replaced with large patches of barren earth with sparse vegetation.

MegaGal saw Vex's eyes wandering over the rough terrain, and gestured to the landscape. "Welcome to the patrol area."

"The hell happened here?"

"The Gate happened."

"Gate?"

"Without getting into too many specifics, it's the phenomenon that the kaiju are using to weasel their way onto earth. The Gate creates a spatial connection with specific points on the planet, and that's how the kaiju get here. The energy build up is what causes those strange looking clouds, and if a kaiju decides to come through the gate, it basically gets teleported into the ground, bursting up through it as it suddenly dislocates enough room for a creature of that size."

Vex was quite taken aback by all this. "I... I'm mostly surprised you're telling me all of this considering your whole top-secret thing."

"It's rare that I actually see any kaiju during a patrol, but I figured I should probably give you a heads up in case one suddenly explodes out of the dirt under your feet, y'know?"

"So how do you explain this to the public?"

"Oh that's easy, we just cordon off the area. Weather experiments and whatnot. And it's not completely a lie either, since we do have some weather balloons to monitor the clouds that the Gate creates."

Now that she mentioned it, Vex did see one or two bright red balloons in the distance, and in addition to them, there was some sort of tall tower looming over the trees.

Pointing at the tower, Vex asked, "Is that where we're headed?"

MegaGal looked where she was pointing, "That's just the ranger tower for the area, we can go check in after we activate the hammer." She waved at the tower before scanning the ground.

"Hammer?"

"We have an array of GPR's; Radar devices that scan the ground beneath us. Hammers. That's our job today, prep and prime, then it's easygoing for us! And it's right oveeeeer... here!" MegaGal exclaimed, spotting it between the patches of trees dotting the area.

In the middle of a flat area was a large metal panel embedded into the ground. As the two giant women approached it, the panels began to slide open, and MegaGal crouched down as they did. With the doors fully open, MegaGal reached her hand into the hole and seemed to grip some sort of handle. With a lift, she began to pull whatever it was she was holding out, and a long cylinder began to rise with her hand. The device looked very hi-tech, but Vex still didn't have the slightest clue how it was supposed to work. It seemed to even have a small ladder going down the side. MegaGal stood up to full height, the cylinder reaching her hips which must have been at least 150 feet high in the air, and she suddenly twisted her hand, rotating the cylinder 90 degrees. A clunking sound could be heard, indicating something had been locked into place.

"So why do you call it the hammer?" Vex asked, crossing her arms as she peered closer at it.

"Because it does this," And MegaGal let go of the handle, causing the heavy pillar to suddenly go into a freefall, sliding back down into the earth all at once.

The moment the device slammed down into the rock deep below them, a THOOM sound rang out, muffled by the tons of dirt around it.

However, Vex hadn't been expecting it, and the loud sound made her flinch. What's more, the symbiote around her feet reacted to the sound by retracting away from the ground, suddenly making her barefoot and revealing her toes. Thanks to it being so deep, the sound hadn't been enough to hurt them, but it certainly wasn't comfortable.

MegaGal immediately noticed Vex's reaction, and was mostly confused on why she could suddenly see her toes. "Everything ok?"

"Yeah, yeah, I'm fine," Vex responded, waving her off. Looking at her feet, the symbiote had already started to creep back down to cover them, as if nothing had happened. "She... doesn't do well with loud sounds. Or fire for that matter."

"Oh, that's why you freaked out at the gas station explosion when we first met!"

"Yeah. God, that hurt like a bitch. But this is whatever, barely a pinch."

"You sure?" MegaGal asked, a little concerned about her. "We've got a lot of these hammers to get to today, so I don't want to force you to do something if it's hurting you."

It'd be a bigger deal if it was on the surface. Being underground makes it mostly bearable

"We'll be fine, really," Vex insisted. "My feet will just get a little sore whenever we do one, but it's nothing."

Smiling back at her, MegaGal teased, "I'm always available to carry you if you need."

"Do you ever get tired of carrying around other people?"

"Nope! Now c'mon, we've got to wait while the hammer finishes its scan of the area, so we can relax a bit. Let's go find a spot by the Ranger tower and chill out."

The two girls began the trek towards the tower in the distance. Vex hadn't realized it at first, but it was basically just as tall as them. It certainly stood out among the much shorter trees that dotted the landscape.

Walking up to it, MegaGal lightly knocked on the side of the concrete structure, peeking into the window and greeting him with, "Don't be a stranger ranger. How we lookin' today?"

"MegaGal." The man said, matter of factly, adjusting the headset on his helmet. "There's been no reported activity on the surface so far, so you'll be sticking to the regular route. The automatic system for hammer number B29 is malfunctioning again, and we've sent a repair team ahead, but you should have no problem activating it manually."

"Oh, that one again?"

"That one again." The ranger's demeanor seemed to relax as he continued to talk, leaning back in his chair a little more casually. Though froze up slightly as Vex joined Mega in peering into the window. "Is this uh, your new friend they mentioned?"

"Uhm, hello!" Vex said sheepishly, waving her fingers. "Sorry if I'm intruding on this operation or anything."

"Relaaaax girl!" MegaGal said, elbowing Vex softly. "If anything, you're probably a welcome change of pace for him. Poor guy is forced to deal with my big butt on patrol duty."

The Ranger chuckled, and cleared his throat, "Actually Mega, there was something I was meaning to ask you."

"Oh?"

Reaching over under his work station, he suddenly pulled up a camera. "It would mean a lot to my daughter if I could get a picture. She's a big fan."

The dark-haired girl put an arm around Vex's shoulder, "Only if she gets to be in the pic too!"

"Sure!" The ranger replied, standing up to get a better position to take the picture.

"I don't need to be in the pic Mega," Vex said, instinctively wiping some hair out of her face.

"Vex, the only thing better than a pic of one giant superhero lady is two giant superhero ladies," MegaGal insisted, rubbing Vex's shoulder.

That's just math

"Alright, you've convinced me," Vex said with a small laugh. She folded her hands over each other in front of her for a nice simple pose, but the symbiote arms decided to copy Mega, reaching one arm around her shoulder and placing the other out on her hip.

"Say cheese!" The ranger shouted, and a flash went off in the two smiling girls' faces. "Thank you so much ladies, she's gonna be thrilled. I'll get back to monitoring the readings for now, but I'll be sure to let you know how she reacts Mega."

"You better! I wanna know every detail!" MegaGal shouted as she gestured for Vex to follow. Finding a nearby clearing, MegaGal sat down and patted the ground beside her. "It'll be a bit until we've got a full read on the area, so in the meantime, it's your turn for a question!"

Vex sat down beside her, thinking for a moment before tilting her chin up at the tower they had just walked away from. "I wanna know more about those ranger guys. Like, how many do you have working for you?"

A wide grin crawled onto MegaGal's face, and she drummed her fingers together in a sinister fashion, "Oh yes, they all work for meeee, muahahaha!" MegaGal said, giving off the best villainous laugh she could. "I've lost count of all my servants, but they all tend to my every whim."

She could only kid around for so long before she broke the act, laughing to herself. "I don't actually know the exact number, but there's a good number of rangers, both locally and world-wide. They're just doing their part in protecting the Earth, and I certainly appreciate the help. I may be huge, but I can't be everywhere all at once... well I could if I got big enough? Buuuut that wouldn't be great for the planet."

Laying two of her arms back on the ground behind her, Vex chuckled, "Ah yes, clearly this is all a nefarious plot for your worldwide domination."

Giggling at the thought of a supervillain version of herself, MegaGal countered back with another question, "Speaking of nefarious plots, you told me a bit about the other heroes of your world, but what about the supervillains? Tell me about the bad guys you've beaten! You've gotta have some sort of cool rogues gallery, right?"

"I mean it's not much of a gallery to be honest. I only have like, two. Three if you're counting this annoying lady who works in marketing. But the first one I fought was this Doctor guy. Dr. Stroman I think was his name? I've only had one or two run ins with him, and he doesn't have any powers or anything, he just hates aliens or something and sends these robots after me."

Do not like him one bit

MegaGal's face lit up, "No way, robots?! Far out!"

"Yeah I smashed up a bunch of them last time, even though they rebuilt themselves, it was a whole thing."

"Still! You fought robots!"

"And you fight giant monsters!"

"They're not robots though!"

There was something incredibly amusing to Vex that with all the insane stuff MegaGal could do, it was the idea of robots that impressed her.

If she thinks that's crazy, tell her about Syren

"Believe me, it gets weirder. I'm trying to think of where to begin with my other villain."

"Wait, lemme guess, some sort of evil alien out to get you?"

"Not even close. Don't even bother guessing, you won't get it, I promise."

"Alright, hit me."

"So her name is Syren. She's this super evil lady, and she's got this massive underwater sub along with her own personal army. But the army isn't there willingly, she's like mind controlled them or whatever."

"Oh, she's got mind control powers!"

"...Sort of. They're forced to obey her when they... drink her breast milk."

There was a moment of silence as MegaGal narrowed her eyes at Vex. "You're fucking with me."

"I swear to God I'm not," Vex replied, rubbing her temples. "You think I don't know how ridiculous it sounds? That's not even the most insane part either! Her tits are like fifty feet tall!"

MegaGal had to stifle a laugh. "This is because you saw the pic of May, right? You're just making this up."

"No! And don't laugh! She's like, super evil! She wants nothing more than to make everyone serve her and her giant tits! She's got an entire army of victims who she's turned into her mindless slaves!"

Not being able to help it, MegaGal burst into laughter, laying back on the ground and holding her sides. She wheezed as she tried to stop, asking, "Oh my God! Are you for real?!"

"Yes!" Vex said, her face turning red. She hadn't ever really talked about this out loud to anyone, and it sounded even more insane coming out of her mouth.

Finally calming down a bit, MegaGal chuckled, "I mean, it sucks for those people, but gosh, a titty tyrant!"

"I know!" Vex chuckled, lying down beside MegaGal, covering her face. "It's so weird!"

Maybe it's just life's way of getting back at you for giving yourself some huge boobies

"Maybe it's just life's way of getting back at you for rocking that huge rack of yours."

JINX

"So what, I want some hot curves and get some psycho mega tiddy bitch, but when you do it, the city throws you a parade!"

"Hey!" MegaGal protested with a smile, turning onto her side to face Vex, "I'm doing my best to contain my growth! ...Most of the time. You're the one giving me a big fat bubble butt in front of everybody!"

Vex let out a huff because she didn't really have a comeback. Sure, May had told her to do it, but it hadn't taken very much convincing, and she had liked the attention.

"It just seemed like something you'd do, ok?"

"I mean she's not completely wrong," Penny spoke into MegaGal's ear, prompting a chuckle from her.

"How was the parade anyway?" MegaGal asked. "Enjoy yourself?"

"Yeah! It was really fun pretending to be you and getting to see all your fans. I got to say a few words and people cheered and everything! They even had some carnival games, and some guys wanted to try and beat me at one of those strength competitions with the hammer and the bell, but they said I was only allowed to use one finger."

"Hahaha! I can't imagine it went well for them."

"It did not. But enough about that, I just had to stand around and look pretty all day, I wanna know more about you saving people from that huge storm! I caught a glimpse of it on the news, it looked pretty nasty."

MegaGal turned onto her back once again, putting her hands behind her head as she recalled the details of the other day. "It was a pretty bad storm, definitely one of the worst I've seen. I'm just happy I could help the people there out."

"Big ol' storm's got nothin' on you, huh?"

"Well, I wouldn't say that. Things did get kind of intense."

"Really? Can't imagine some strong wind and rain doing much to you."

"No, it's not that, it's just..." MegaGal stared up into the sky, thinking about how to word it. "It's just that I had to grow pretty big to stop the storm, and it can be... difficult to control."

Now it was Vex's turn to roll over and look at MegaGal as they laid on the ground, "What, like, it's hard for you to grow that big?"

"The opposite. It's hard for me to stop. I got as big as the island and didn't want to stop."

Woah

Woah was right. How big could she get exactly?

"I did manage to thankfully. I stopped the wave, and the storm... Buuut, now Indonesia has a me-shaped crater right off the coast of one of her shores," she said with a sigh.

"Well that doesn't seem like such a huge deal, does it?"

"It could've been worse, I guess. I do a lot of exercises and I've trained for years, but it's definitely not getting easier to contain... myself." MegaGal sat up, hugging her knees as she looked over at Vex.

"What do you mean 'contain yourself'?"

"All I have to do is... relax," MegaGal said with another sigh as she closed her eyes. Within seconds, she began to grow, her hip bumping into Vex before she managed to stop it. Leaning to the side to give the girl some space, she looked at her again, raising an eyebrow, "See?"

"Wait, that... I mean that sounds really hard. It's something you've gotta always stop yourself from doing?"

MegaGal nodded.

"Oh, so that's why your belly grew after you ate the food from that truck!"

"Yeah exactly! Even something as small as that can just... well you know. And it's not just that I like the feeling Vex. I do of course, but when I grow, it feels as if I'm exhaling after holding my breath for hours and hours. It feels so good to just... let it out. Does that make sense?"

Hailey nodded, but she was surprised. This whole time she had just been holding back her growth? It helped put things into perspective for just how big she could get.

"And I don't want to just be big, Vex..." MegaGal continued, as if reading her mind. "I want to be fucking gigantic."

MegaGal ruffled her hair and sighed through her lips. She hadn't ever really talked about this out loud with anyone. Not even May really.

Vex frowned slightly. It certainly didn't sound comfortable. "And how does sleeping work exactly?"

"It... took a really long time, years and years of practice. It's this sorta meditation thing where I'm able to focus my body into a sleep-like state."

A snort from Rook sounded off in MegaGal's ear. "I still remember one of the first times you tried it. Your foot burst right into one of the ranger break rooms."

She couldn't help but chuckle softly at the memory.

"So... is that what happened this morning then? You just slipped up?" Vex asked. She knew that May had mentioned something about nightmares, but maybe there was a simpler explanation.

"Uhm..." MegaGal started, hesitation in her voice. It wasn't a super comfortable subject for her, so she shrugged, "Yeah, something like that."

"Hammer scan complete Mega." Leslie said into the mic. "You can continue on to the next one."

Taking advantage of the distraction, MegaGal stood up, offering a hand to Hailey, "Looks like we're good to go! Now we just gotta do this a couple more dozen times."

Grabbing MegaGal's hand to pull herself up, Hailey balked, "Dozens?"

"Only a couple of dozens! The mid-west is pretty big y'know," MegaGal replied, starting to walk once more.

A couple of dozens?

Chapter 3

"How often do you have to do this?" Vex asked, following MegaGal as she continued walking

"It varies. I guess there's like seasons sort of? Higher spikes of activity where I do it more often, but other times it's relatively calm and only have to do it once or twice a month. But still, I don't always have to do it!"

"You don't?"

"Nope! There's this whole mechanized process that raises the hammers on their own. I just help out because it makes the process way faster. So if I'm not busy or otherwise occupied, they usually just have me do it."

"And I'd like to remind you that 'making a giant snowman' is not a valid reason for being busy," Penny teased.

"Come oooooon," MegaGal pouted, "Last winter was the most snow Little Hill has ever gotten! I could've been in the Guinness book of records!"

"You're already in the Guinness book of records!"

"Yeah, but not for building the world's biggest snowman!"

Hailey laughed at the conversation she imagined MegaGal was having with the people in her ear. "I guess we've got lots more time for our girl talk, huh?"

"That's right! And speaking of, it's myyyy turn to ask something!" MegaGal excitedly pointed out.

"Fire away then."

Clearing her throat, Leslie began to speak up, "Mega, this would be a perfect time to ask her one of our questions. Regarding the extra-terrestrial nature of her suit, we're wondering-"

"-Do you have a special someone in your life?" MegaGal asked biting her lip, cutting off whatever Leslie was about to say.

MegaGal heard an audible groan from Amie in her ear. "Oh hush your grumbling. There'll be plenty of time for your questions later, but I need to know this crucial information."

Biting her lip, the blonde gave MegaGal a playful look. "Maaaybe. What's it to you?"

"Oooh, I bet he's tall and handsome! Hmm, dark brown hair... no, blond! Drives a red 1967 Chevy Camaro Z28-"

"Stooooop!" Hailey laughed, covering half of her face.

"Oh, I was close wasn't I?!"

"Oh yeah, spot on," Vex responded sarcastically with a smile.

"Clearly he's a successful businessman who works in the city!"

"Are you done describing your dream man?"

"Haha, as if he could handle this much girl."

Smiling, Vex replied, "Fair enough."

"But looking at you on the other hand..." MegaGal eyed Vex's chest, a sneaky grin creeping onto her face. She cupped her own breasts, wiggling her shoulders back and forth, "I'm sure your man really appreciates theeeesee."

Hailey's cheeks reddened a bit as she brushed a hand through her hair and looked down at her own huge chest. "I meeeeeaan. As much as any guy likes big boobs."

This caused MegaGal to raise an eyebrow. "Oh? So if it's not to show off to this lucky man, then why go supersized?"

"Well... it started out as sort of an accident. And then I thought it'd be a good way to help hide my secret identity I guess."

MegaGal stopped walking, smiling as she narrowed her eyes, sensing she wasn't telling her everything. "You're telling me that you have a suit that can let you look like literally anyone and you decide that the best way to hide your secret identity is to give yourself huge boobs? Admit it, you like having them big."

Hailey looked down at her chest, running her hands along her breasts.

This is what I've been saying! She's got you pegged!

Biting her lip, Hailey looked at MegaGal. "Well, I've always had big boobs, and I like having them, and it just... felt good to make them bigger."

"Yes!" MegaGal said, closing her fist and making her own boobs grow just as large as Vex's. "Any reason you don't go bigger then?"

Vex shrugged, "I don't know, I guess I try to keep it... within reason?"

"This is within reason?!" MegaGal exclaimed, jiggling her Vex-sized boobs. "Just how big are boobs in the future? And more importantly, if you like having them big... why not make them even bigger?"

Vex laughed and kept comparing her chest to MegaGal's. "Well... I guess since nobody I know will see me here, I can try going bigger than I normally would." She grabbed her boobs and felt them growing under all 4 of her hands, stretching out more and more. It was strange growing around someone else when she was unmasked, but MegaGal certainly was encouraging, and she did love making her boobs even bigger.

"That's what I'm talking about!" MegaGal said with a big smile. Seeing Vex give in to her temptations made MegaGal even more at ease, and her body almost instinctively began to thicken. Her thighs and butt began to stretch out her outfit, and her boobs followed suit. Deciding to lean into the feeling, she sighed in relief as her boobs expanded more until they were just as big as Vex's currently were. Her hands pressed into the swaying tits, loving the feeling of the weight hanging off her.

"I guess if you were this size all the time it might get in the way of fighting bad guys," she snickered and awkwardly started swinging her fists through the air around her breasts, causing them to bounce around.

This made Hailey bring a hand to her forehead and shake her head with a smile. Seeing MegaGal with boobs as big as her helped put it into perspective how big she was, and admittedly the thought was kind of hot.

Then let's go bigger. Don't you wanna be the larger one here?

Hailey bit her lip. It wasn't often she got to splurge like this. Might as well make the most of it. Plus, she had to admit she did like being able to have the bigger boobs out of the two of them.

It took MegaGal a second to realize Vex's boobs had begun growing again. Her eyebrows raised as she watched Hailey looking down at her own chest as her flesh spilled over her arms. Hailey's green eyes flicked upwards with a sort of mischievous look about them. It's like she was inviting a sort of challenge, and MegaGal grinned wide as it was one she was all too willing to meet.

Vex's breasts slapped against her stomach as she let go of them. As they bounced and jiggled, Hailey couldn't help but love the fact that they dominated her frame, now reaching her waistline. Her eyes drifted back to MegaGal, and she smiled seeing that the girl had quickly grown to match her. Out of nowhere, her zipper suddenly popped open, creating a small window into her cleavage. MegaGal seemed surprised by the sudden outfit malfunction, but after a moment she giggled and swayed her huge boobs back and forth, bumping them against each other as they wobbled side to side.

Bigger!

Having no reason to argue, Hailey continued the unspoken competition, letting her breasts swell of their own accord. They crept further down her body, past her crotch, and she only finally stopped once they came to her thighs. The massive orbs jutted out from her body a considerable amount, and Vex's lower arms gently squeezed them together. Just staring at her own boobs, lost in thought, she almost forgot about Mega until she gasped, and Hailey quickly jerked her head up to see MegaGal was clearly also enjoying herself.

Arching her back, MegaGal's breasts quickly ballooned out to once again match Vex's size, but suddenly her belt buckle snapped. The belt flew off MegaGal towards Vex, making her jump as it wedged itself somewhere in the depths of her cleavage. Clearly MegaGal had let herself get a little carried away, and her boobs continued to quickly swell out of control, breaking her zipper open even more as they got big enough that MegaGal had to wave her arms to steady herself as she began to lose her balance. Hailey couldn't help herself but laugh out loud at the sight of it, but was too busy laughing to notice when she was suddenly bowled into by MegaGal's growing breasts as the giantess fell forward face first onto a pile of her own boobs. Hailey hit the ground on her back as MegaGal's boobs finally stopped growing, pinning her legs in the process.

As she lay on top of her, something peculiar happened as MegaGal's eyes began to shift in color. Flashing from her bright sky blues to a deep red, she chewed her lip as she began to take in the situation. She could feel Vex's body under her massive breasts, her small legs wriggling in vain, attempting to push her off.

It felt... intoxicating.

With her back on the ground, Hailey barely had even begun to take in MegaGal's sudden growth and could barely even see her head over the curvature of MegaGal's colossal tits. Looking up at her though, she noticed her eyes seemed to be... red for some reason? But before she could wonder more about this, Vex was already prepared with a comeback.

Two can play it that game!

"Vex, wait-!" Hailey tried to yell, but her already large rack ballooned outwards even more, pushing into MegaGal's breasts, burying Hailey even more under what was now two pairs of giant boobs. She had to push into the flesh of her own boobs in front of her with two of her arms just to prevent her own head from being engulfed.

The feeling of Vex's breasts growing and rubbing into her own huge pair was enough to make MegaGal close her eyes and bury her face into her own cleavage, sucking in air. The next time she opened her eyes, they had returned back to their sky blue color, and she sheepishly lifted her head back up just in time to see Vex's boobs matching the size of her own. MegaGal planted an elbow into one of her boobs while she put her hand on her chin as if nothing had happened, adjusting her visor in the process. "I'll admit Vex, I think we're both bad influences on each other," she said with a grin.

Luna base could only stare at everything that had happened on the screen, a mixture of shock, annoyance, and amusement on different faces of the team.

"I guess we both got a little carried away!" Vex yelled back up at her. Her cheeks were a little red from the situation; the thought that one of these massive pairs of boobs she was pinned under was her own, it felt... exciting.

"You can say that again. Gimme one sec and I'll get off!" MegaGal responded as she began to rock her body back and forth like she was on a waterbed. Finally getting enough momentum to roll forward slightly, she stretched an arm completely into Vex's cleavage. "C'mon, I know it's in here somewhere..." She muttered to herself as she felt around.

Hailey's face turned even redder as the sensations of a whole arm rummaging between her breasts hit her, and she was very glad MegaGal couldn't see her face with a wall of boob between them. Normally she wouldn't have allowed someone she really didn't know all that well to get all handsy like this, but it certainly wasn't a normal scenario, and Hailey didn't expect it to feel so good.

"Got it!" MegaGal said as she pulled out her belt from between Vex's boobs. To roll back off, she had to rock her body again, each forward motion pushing Vex's tits into her face each time, and slowly rolled backwards until her feet were able to touch the ground. Carefully, she steadied herself back up into a standing position, her colossal tits still sitting on Vex's legs

"Lemme just redistribute this real quick," MegaGal said, already starting to grow taller. Her boobs may have been getting smaller but her ass also started to flare out, her shorts riding up in the process. "What do you think, this is more... professional wouldn't you say?" She paused to look over herself and then scoffed. "The town will be expecting more of this, especially after the little charade yesterday," she giggled.

With her legs now free from under the massive pair of breasts, Vex finally began to shrink her own just so that she could stand back up. Once she finally got them down to a manageable size, she looked up at MegaGal who was double her height at 600 feet, sporting an extremely generous hourglass shape. Hailey was still a little flush from the whole experience, replying with, "Heh, heh, yeah that's good." She'd never been so open with someone about how good it felt to make her boobs big. Coupled with MegaGal getting her hands all over them, it had been a much more intimate experience than she had expected. Wanting to switch topics, she asked, "So what about you, huh?" gesturing to MegaGal's body as she grew to match her size. "You got to ask me why I have huge boobs, but you clearly also like growing, so why aren't you rockin' a massive rack twenty-four seven?"

Now it was MegaGal's turn to be slightly hesitant. "Oh, heh, I don't know... I do like being able to move easily, especially in a scrap," she said, holding up her fists again, her boobs jiggling as she did so. "Don't get me wrong, I DO really enjoy the big curves. Perhaps too much! But they can be rather... sensitive. Very distracting," she chuckled and rubbed the back of her neck. "And besides, there's the public eye factor as well. You said it yourself, you try to keep it within reason and all. Being MegaGal has taught me that I'll always be in the spotlight as long as I'm... well, Mega. I want to maintain an ideal presence I guess, without attracting unwanted attention."

Smiling again, she laughed to herself and added, "Or else I'd have more horn dogs like May nipping at my heels. You've got it lucky, to share the limelight with a bunch of heroes flyin' around!"

"Well you're not always in the public right? May said you've only been MegaGal for like four years or something?"

"That's right! and I've already had my fair share of wardrobe malfunctions in that time. Let's just say they don't sell bras for a pair of boobs that can have their own gravitational pull at the local JCPenny," MegaGal joked, struggling to fit her belt back on with her bigger breasts getting in the way.

Vex laughed, "What? Surely you're kidding. What's the biggest you've ever been?"

She actually wasn't kidding. And as for the biggest she'd ever been... she wasn't even sure if she could give her a straight answer. Even for her the details were a little hazy. She remembers growing and growing and growing, more than she'd ever grown before. Her body climbing higher and higher, casting a shadow over everything in front of her. She could hear the panic in her ears as Luna base had struggled to figure out what to do, and even she had begun to worry, but then was a sudden change. A warmth had washed over her, calming her down, and her body seemed to act on its own. Like she had suddenly become a passenger in her own body. The next thing she remembered was a brightness of energy burning around her as she could only watch she was suddenly able to pry open the moon gate with her hands and pull herself through, flying through a tunnel of banded light. The bright colors soared past her, and her growing still hadn't been done.

While she struggled to remember just what exactly had happened, she did recall the counter on her visor not even be able to keep up. 100,000 kilometers, 300,000 kilometers, 700,000 kilometers, until it reached a point the counter was just a blur. At some point she must have exited the crossroads because then she remembered a big floating star in front of her. Not the sun, but a different, redder one. And even that began to shrink before her. The whole solar system seemed to surround her as she continued to grow, reaching out for the star. And then... and then-

Suddenly snapping out of her recollection, MegaGal blew out a puff of air before answering, "Well, let's see... I was... big. Like, really, really big. Bigger than I've ever been. Obviously."

Looking away from Vex, she began to talk with her hands, making vague gestures here and there.

"Ummm... let me put it this way, I grew so big that things got... hazy. I don't really remember. There wasn't a lot around me to compare my size to. And I still think I could've grown more, but I was still... huge, y'know?"

When MegaGal looked back at Vex, she saw a mix of confusion and skepticism painted on the blonde's face.

So you asked what the biggest she's ever been is, and she just said "really big"?

MegaGal let out a sigh, and responded almost as if she actually heard what Vex said. "Ah, I'm sorry, that's not much of an answer, is it? Here, how about you get to ask another question? A freebie," she added with a smile.

Ask her what she uses to masturbate with

If Hailey had been drinking something, she would've spit it out. "VEX!" She shouted, her face turning red.

Don't act like you don't wanna know! She's a big girl with big needs!

"Oh my God." Hailey quietly said, covering her eyes.

MegaGal couldn't help but laugh at her one-sided exchange, and could only wonder what conversation she was having. "You gotta tell me what she said!"

"N-no, she was being stupid. Just... never mind, sorry." Hailey stammered, struggling to look MegaGal in the eyes.

"It's ok. Y'know, you're kinda cute when you're flustered."

That wasn't the response Hailey had been expecting. It surely had to be just more girl talk, right?

C'mon, she's a total flirt!

No, she's not flirting... is she?

Maybe you should ask

She was a little bit curious now. Stroking a hand through her hair, Vex asked, "Do you mean that? Like, because you were talking about your 'dream man' before, and I thought..."

This seemed to raise one of MegaGal's eyebrows. "Of course! I have a dream man, sure, but who says I don't have a dream woman too?"

The giant woman stopped walking for a second, taking a step closer to Vex. "And what about yooouuu?" She asked in a playful manner, bending forward to get even closer to her, a big smile on her face.

"Oh, uh, I'm straight. Just boys for me."

Tilting her head playfully, MegaGal replied quietly with a smile, "Huh, what a shame. I'm a very good kisser though!"

Vex rolled her eyes. "Good kisser, huh? And who exactly have you kissed to earn that title?" she teased.

"I'd wager a good third of the city," MegaGal giggled, biting her lip.

"Oh c'mon," Vex shouted, throwing two of her hands up, "Now I know you're messing with me!"

"It's true! There was a big fair last year, and I thought I'd volunteer. I had some options for what to help with, and one of those was the kissing booth!"

"Oh my god."

"I'll have you know, it was the longest line at the fair. Apparently, a lot of folks in this city wanted to see what it was like to kiss a giant woman. They said it was the most money they've ever raised for their charity fund!"

"I can't imagine why."

As they crested another hill, MegaGal pointed at the ground, "Next checkpoint is right here, give me a second."

She approached it, and just like the first time, the metal door in the ground opened up. Since she was bigger this time around, when MegaGal reached in, she carefully grabbed the handle like structure with her fingers and pulled the entire pillar up, before twisting and locking it into position.

Looking at Vex, MegaGal asked, "Do you wanna step back?" She remembered how it had affected her suit the first time.

"I'm fine," Vex said waving her ahead.

With a release of her hand, the hammer dropped. There was once again another deep booming sound beneath them, and Hailey's toes were revealed for the second time as the symbiote peeled away from them momentarily. MegaGal waved Vex over to the base of the hill, and laid down, putting her hands behind her head.

"So I guess it's your turn then." Vex said as she joined MegaGal while she waited for the hammer scan to complete. "Ask away."

"I've got a good one," MegaGal insisted. "So you and your symbiote suit... what's that like?"

"What do you mean?"

"Like, what are you to each other? Obviously, you're her host and she gives you powers and stuff, but there's gotta be more to it than that. She's always with you and can listen to your thoughts, so it's gotta be pretty intimate, right?"

Even I'm curious to hear this

Hailey was honestly a little unsure of how exactly to answer the question. "I've... never really thought about it that hard I guess. We're... definitely friends at least."

Understatement much?

"Well obviously," MegaGal said, rolling onto her side. "But if she's with you all the time, that means even when you're getting close with your boyfriend, so she's basically a third partner, right?"

"I... guess that's true," she replied. Hailey supposed Vex had made her life in the bedroom much more interesting, and not just because of her growth powers. Hailey was hesitant to say she was in a relationship with Vex, but was it really that far off? Hell, she was more involved in her life than her boyfriend.

We've got something special. Besides, you love it

Hailey chuckled. "She says we've got something special. And she's right. There's nothing we don't share with each other."

MegaGal had a warm smile on her face. "That sounds really nice."

"You've got your own relationship with the people talking in your ear, right?"

"Yeah, and I love them, except for when they nag at me for eating too much during a mission." She teased, knowing they were listening.

"Just because the kaiju destroyed a food packing facility that one time, did not mean you had to stop and eat everything," Rook said into the mic, shaking his head with a smile.

"It was gonna go to waste otherwise!" MegaGal said, defending herself with a laugh. "I did them a favor eating it all, especially since the kaiju was no match for my belly bump after that."

"Well what about May?" Vex asked, thinking of how close they were. "You and her seem pretty tight."

MegaGal put a hand up to her cheek, holding her head up as she hummed, "Haha, yeah, she's a cutie. Funny too, she always knows how to lighten the mood. She was actually the first civilian I met before I became MegaGal."

She paused for a moment, smiling to herself and looking at the ground, tracing her finger into the dirt. "Lucky me."

Vex smiled back at her, "Sounds like you've got something special with her too."

Without looking back at her, MegaGal nodded, and finished drawing a circle around the M+S she had etched onto into the dirt. As her hand lifted from the ground, she put it to her visor, suddenly lifting it up off her face, cutting off Luna base's feed completely.

The team blinked at the blank feed, turning to each other, slightly confused. Rook put up a hand, just signaling for them to wait.

"My turn for a question then," MegaGal said, still looking at her drawing. "What was it like inside?"

Hailey scrunched her brow, not understanding the question. "Inside?"

MegaGal looked up to meet her eyes. "May's house. Inside May's house."

"You've seen inside, right? It seemed pretty standard for this era I suppose."

"I know what it looks like... but what was it like actually being in it?"

Hailey, she's never been able to go inside...

There was a moment of silence between the girls. "Oh. Uhm. It's got this... lived in feeling to it. It's cozy. There are a few tiles in the kitchen floor that are a little more slippery than the others. Some of the cushions on the couch are a bit worn out. One of the taps in the bathroom sink is a little loose, and you have to make sure you tighten it. It's a home."

MegaGal half-smiled, "That sounds nice... Back in Luna base, they've made a comfy room for a giant, and I appreciate every bit of it... but I don't know. Yesterday, when I saw you stood there next to May, as me, I... well. It just got me thinking is all. What it'd be like if I didn't have to be big all the time."

"I mean, being big isn't all that bad is it?" Hailey asked, scooting a bit closer to MegaGal. "All the people that look up to you for protection and everything. And you certainly seem to enjoy it," she added with a smirk.

"That's the problem though, I enjoy it too much!" MegaGal exclaimed, sitting up. "Even at my smallest size, everything around me seems so... fragile. And meanwhile I have to constantly fight the urge to just get bigger and bigger."

As if on cue, MegaGal's body began to grow. She didn't even seem to notice, and Vex could only watch as the girl expanded in all directions. "Uh, Mega?"

Still not noticing her growth, or Vex trying to get her attention, MegaGal continued, "And that doesn't even mention any outside factors that make me want to grow even more! I mean hell, sometimes I grow just from taking my clothes off, as if they're somehow confining my body. Even special outfits like this which are made to grow with me-"

There was a loud snapping sound and the belt around her chest suddenly whipped off into her legs, MegaGal being taken by surprised as her boobs bounced from the recoil. They were noticeably bigger than before, and when she looked over at Vex, the symbiotic girl was standing up, and had backed away from her in order to not be rolled over by her thighs.

"See?!" She yelled in frustration, throwing her belt down to the ground, the medal making a hard impact into the dirt.

Vex backed up as she had another growth spurt, thickening up even more as she rose higher. Even though Vex was standing up at 600 feet tall, MegaGal was still taller than her, and she was sitting down!

"Sometimes I hate how much I want to grow because of what it means for everyone around me. What I could do if I lost control. Like... some sort of bad dream." MegaGal's said in a quiet, sad voice as she hugged her legs.

Vex walked closer and laid a hand against her leg. "What happened in the nightmare last night?"

MegaGal slowly breathed out, resting her head against her knees. May must have mentioned something to Vex. "I was normal sized. In a house with May. Our house. And then I just... got bigger. Until I ruined everything."

Vex bent down to pick up the belt MegaGal had dropped, and slowly grew to until she was at eye level with MegaGal, putting an arm on her shoulder. "It wasn't real. May's fine. And she's gonna stay fine. I haven't known you super long or anything, but... you seem stronger than that."

With a weak smile, MegaGal nodded, "Thanks. And sorry for you having to deal with this. I don't know what came over me, it just... I feel comfortable talking about this stuff with you."

Rubbing her shoulder, Vex smiled back at her. "Take it from the girl with the alien attached to her. Sometimes it's easier to share."

With another hand, Vex offered her the belt. MegaGal's smile widened just a bit more as she looked down at it, sitting up and taking it from her. Flipping it over, she read the word MEGAGAL on the back of it and looked back up at the blonde.

"Thanks Vex."

Wrapping an arm around Vex's waist, she pulled her into a one-armed hug, bringing the girl close.

"Oh!" Vex said, surprised as MegaGal held her against her. Returning the favor, she wrapped her arms around as much of MegaGal as she could, just embracing the warm hug.

The belt in MegaGal's hand began to flash in her hand, prompting MegaGal to finally loosen her grip on Vex. "Oh, they must be worried," MegaGal said before flipping her visor back down onto her face. "Of course you guys page me in the middle of a hug!"

"We were just checking in with you since you cut comms without warning." Leslie spoke into her mic, pushing up her large glasses. "And to let you know this sector is in the clear."

Rook leaned forward, stroking his beard, "You good Mega?" There was the slightest hint of concern in his voice, even though he did a good job of hiding it.

MegaGal looked down at the belt buckle in her hand, rubbing the front of it with her thumb, smiling to herself. "I just needed some private girl talk with Vex. Sorry to worry you guys."

She turned to look at Vex, smirking as she added in a cheerful tone, "I'm good."

Standing up onto her feet, MegaGal motioned to Vex, teasing, "Now c'mon girl, enough sitting around, daylight's burnin! Are all superheroes in your universe this lazy?"

Vex scoffed at her as she stood up, pretending to act offended. "Well excuuuuse me! And really, there was hardly anywhere to sit at all with how much space your big butt takes up!"

For good measure, one of Vex's lower arms elbowed one of her cheeks, causing it to wobble.

Fighting the urge to hip check her, MegaGal began walking forward, forcing her hips outwards as she walked to make her ass shake a little more as she did so. "If you think it's taking up space now, then you've seen nothing yet!"

Still being just under half her height, Vex had to trot to keep up with MegaGal's stride, and began to grow taller so that she wasn't still at eye level with her fat ass. As she caught up with her and kept growing to try and match her height, when her head reached MegaGal's shoulders Vex suddenly stumbled a bit, catching herself on MegaGal's arm.

"Whoa, easy girl, something wrong?" MegaGal asked with a concerned voice as she stopped walking and put a hand on Vex's shoulder, steadying her.

Shaking her head, Vex asked, "How tall are you right now?" She almost sounded as if she was out of breath.

Checking the display on her visor, MegaGal read out loud, "1200 feet, why?"

"That makes sense," Vex said, taking slow breaths. "I've never tried growing past 1000 feet. It already makes me a little lightheaded when I get that big, and I didn't realize you were 1200 feet when I tried to match you. Just a little dizzy, I'll be fine."

"Here, hold onto me for support," MegaGal said, clasping Hailey's hand and letting her lean on her as they began walking again.

"Thanks Mega." Vex replied, holding her hand tightly and still trying to shake off the vertigo. Looking down past her breasts, she couldn't help but just marvel at how big she was. She had grown close to this big when she fought MegaGal, but now she had time to really take it in. Any trees that remained in the area barely made their way past her ankles. Was this what it was like for MegaGal all the time?

The other girl noticed Vex looking down at the ground in front of her as she walked, and smirked, "I can offer some pointers for this size if you want."

Vex smirked back at her, "Back home it's not a super big issue for me. Since I can barely even see my feet, the suit can sorta put me on autopilot. She makes sure I'm not stepping on anything I shouldn't be. But at this height it's just a little unnerving."

"Don't worry, you have lots of time to practice out here in the wilderness. Just gotta be careful of areas with soft ground, because your weight at this size will cause you to sink into the earth more than you're used to."

She nodded, still looking over her boobs to see where she was stepping, being as careful as possible. Being this big for an extended period of time was just surreal for her.

MegaGal could tell she was still a little unsettled. "I can always carry you on my back again. It might help," she said with a smirk.

"I'll probably be fine like this." Vex said as she patted MegaGal's arm. "Just need to adjust my center of gravity I guess."

"It's also important to make sure you have a good, sturdy base," she added with a wink, slapping her hip with her other hand.

"When you put it that way it just sounds like you want me to make my ass bigger."

"I mean, if it helps... why not try it out?" MegaGal teased, biting her tongue playfully.

"I don't think-"

Okay

Before Hailey could even say anything else, Vex was already shifting all the mass from her breasts to her ass. Her boobs kept shrinking until they were back to her normal size without the symbiote, but her ass cheeks continued to swell bigger and bigger, until it was even bigger than MegaGal's. Hailey could only look back in shock at the feeling of her huge bubble butt wobbling behind her.

"Veeeeex!" Hailey whined, rubbing one of her huge cheeks.

MegaGal bit her lip at the blonde's massive new rear. "Now we're talking!" MegaGal teased. Looking over her shoulder, she began to swell her own ass until it was even bigger than Hailey's already huge booty. "Ready for round 2?" She asked, playfully giving one of Vex's cheeks a slap."

Hailey jumped a little, and couldn't help but feel a little embarrassed about the situation, her cheeks turning very red.

But why? You're already used to some massive boobies

"You're the worst!" She whispered loudly, using two of her arms to push her booty back in, shrinking it and making her breasts swell back to what they were. But with Hailey still dizzy and her suddenly being top heavy again, she stumbled forward, and MegaGal had to catch her once more.

Helping steady her, MegaGal offered her some more advice. "In my experience, focusing on something is helpful. You can start counting or focus on a specific object. Like..."

She trailed off, looking around for something to grab, before she looked up at the dark clouds. "If you want, I could grab a fluffy cloud for you."

Vex scoffed at her playful suggestion, and leaned onto MegaGal's shoulder again. "Can I focus on a really big lady?"

"Yeah. Yeah I guess that works," she said, smiling back at her.

Chapter 4

Soon after, Vex was able to regain her footing, and as they crested a hill, she was surprised at the change of landscape. The ground at the base of the hill looks like a massive chunk of the earth had been torn open. Huge swaths of dirt and rock had been tossed aside to make room for something that had burst from the ground itself.

"Whoa. What happened here?"

MegaGal walked down the hill, spreading her arms out in front of her. "All of this is from Mega-24."

She blinked as she realized what she had just let slip, and tried to play it off, hoping Vex wouldn't notice. "Ahem... A Kaiju. Big one too, as you can see. She was one of the first major threats to emerge in this storm zone." MegaGal said with a pause. "What a fight. She was crafty, the tricky devil. Nothing I couldn't handle though."

Vex followed her to the bottom of the hill, and she stepped in a large groove carved into the ground. Wait a second, was that... a letter G? Looking down at the ground, she realized it wasn't just a letter, but part of a word.

MegaGal.

And that's when Vex realized she was standing in an absolutely massive shoeprint.

MegaGal looked back at Vex with a smirk. "Remember the gas station? Well out here the restrictions are a bit more lenient. The Kaiju are a bit easier to handle," she added with a wink.

"No kidding," Vex said quietly under her breath, gawking at the size of the footprint around her. It was one thing for her to hear how big MegaGal could grow, but another matter entirely to see evidence of it up close. And all of this was from... Mega-24?

"What did you mean by that anyway when you said Mega-24?"

"Ummm..." MegaGal hesitated, not knowing exactly how to answer that. She had already said more than she probably should've, so she'd have to make something up.

"You can tell her," Amie's voice said into MegaGal's ear. It was clear to Luna team that MegaGal was really trying her best to not say anything, but Vex had been very cooperative so far, and there wasn't much harm in letting her know this information.

Breathing a little sigh of relief at being allowed to say something, MegaGal clapped her hands together. "Ok, so basically, that's our name for the kaiju. They're all different Megas. So this was Mega-24, which was the one that appeared after Mega-23, and so on and so forth."

"Huh. I guess that makes sense. And your name, that must come from you being the girl that fights them, right?"

"Actually, it's because I was the first. Mega-1," MegaGal said, rubbing the back of her neck. This wasn't information she had really shared with anybody else.

"Oh, so that means the kaiju didn't appear until after you? What made you show up then?"

"I really don't know. I don't even remember 'appearing' in the first place, I just sort of... woke up. And that was in 1933."

"1933? What?"

"I know, right? It's crazy!" MegaGal said with a laugh.

As they walked towards the next checkpoint, the two of them realized the hammer was already pulled up out of the ground, a lone pillar in the large clearing.

"This is the one that always malfunctions," MegaGal said, walking towards it.

Getting closer, Vex could see two green suited people at the top of the hammer. They looked very military-like, but with large cloaks around their shoulders. One of them turned as the giant girls approached, waving at them. "Hey MegaGal."

Because of MegaGal's size, she had to crouch down to get close to the tower. "Afternoon officers!" she said, doing a two-finger salute with a playful wink. "This one acting up again?"

"The damn motor is jammed," The other ranger said, her hands pulling a wire from an exposed panel. "You mind giving us a hand with activating the hammer? We'll still have to fix it because you're not the only one who's gotta go on patrols, but if you could just go ahead and activate it, it'll save us a lot of time."

MegaGal looked at the top of the hammer and sighed, her hand now much too large to carefully twist it, and she didn't want to cause even more work for the rangers by completely breaking it.

Vex was watching her and began to shrink down to the size they had been before. "What if I do it?"

Perking up at the idea that she didn't have to shrink back down, MegaGal stood up to her full height. "Yeah, that's a great idea! Here, I'll walk you through it, it's easy."

The female ranger pulled her hand out of the machine, leaning back on the railing as MegaGal instructed Vex on what to do.

"So you wanna grab it firmly in your hand, and twist counter-clockwise."

Vex did as she was told, wrapping her fingers around the handle and twisting it. "And then I pull it up, right?"

"Correct. Now you wait until you feel the click, and just let go."

Raising it upwards, it was much heavier than she had expected it to be, and she was left wondering just how far down into the ground this thing went. She felt something lock in to place, and let it drop. Feeling the vibration beneath her feet, she suddenly was startled as the hammer lit up, a loud humming sound emanating from it.

"Wait, why is it doing that?" Vex said defensively, looking up at MegaGal. "I did just what you said!"

MegaGal actually looked a little excited. "Nothing's wrong, that means it's detected some kaiju!"

"We're reading an energy signature a few miles southwest of your location," Indie said as he read his screen. "And you thought patrol duty was boring!"

Grinning, MegaGal stood up, looking towards the direction they were indicating. "Today just got a lot more fun Vex! Let's go punch a monster!"

"Wait, what?" Vex asked.

The male ranger on the hammer was leaning on the railing, looking in the distance through a pair of binoculars. "We'll let Luna base know if we spot anything."

MegaGal nodded and motioned for Vex to follow her, doing a light jog towards that direction. Ahead of them was a mountain pass that descended into a large valley. Vex grew closer to MegaGal's size and then tapped her shoulder, asking, "So what exactly do these kaiju look like?"

"It's mostly stuff like you see in the movies, I guess. Big reptiles and bug things and everything in between. There are different tiers of them, but the really dangerous ones are more humanoid in appearance. Funny thing about all of them though, every single one is female."

Just like Jurassic Park!

"Is there any reason for that at all?"

MegaGal shrugged, "I like to leave the biology inquiries to the boys and girls in lab coats. I just deliver them in one piece, hopefully."

"That was actually my next question. Do you just punch them to death, or...?"

"Oh gosh, no! Well, except the tier 1 guys, but they aren't even really alive and just sorta turn to dust when I beat them. Most of them are just looking for a new home, and Earth's uh... occupied. So, we do our best send them on their way, back through the moon gate. However, sometimes things do get a bit more complicated..." MegaGal trailed off.

"The way May talked about them; I'm surprised your bosses don't want you to just end the threat immediately."

MegaGal rolled her eyes and sighed with a smile. "No matter what I do I just can't seem to make everyone get along. But no, Luna is all about protecting and preserving life. It's a lesson I've taken to heart. After all... they spared me."

Hailey smiled. She hadn't really thought of it like that. It occurred to her that she hadn't really put much thought into why she herself did what she did. It just seemed like the right thing to do. Though if she had never bonded with Vex, she'd probably still just be working at her old retail job, bored out of her mind.

As the two girls continued into the valley, they came across a clearing with a huge crater in the middle of it. Jagged edges of rock circled the edge of it, as if something huge had burst from the ground.

"What happened here?" Vex asked, crouching down to get a closer look, sparks of electricity zapping between the charred debris.

"This is an emergence point," MegaGal answered, her eyes scanning the area.

"Fairly recent too by the looks of it," Penny chirped into her earpiece.

"The size might indicate it's a tier 2 possibly?" Leslie added.

Her eyes followed the tracks leading from the crater, and they seemed to go all over the place, wrecking all the vegetation in the area. As she walked around the corner, she spotted some dead looking trees shaking on the side of the mountain pass, the leaves falling off as they shook. "There it is!"

Vex turned to see what she was looking at and gasped as a gigantic insect-like creature crawled out from inside the forest. It was at least 100 feet tall, and looked like a mutated beetle of some kind, with a large bumpy shell and a tiny head. It was a murky grey color with bright lime green eyes that seemed to glow. As soon as they laid eyes on it, it saw them too, making a strange hissing noise by rubbing two of its legs against its shell. It crawled higher up the slope and up onto a large perch, continuing to hiss.

Vex seemed more fascinated than anything. "Wow. An actual kaiju. I've never fought one before, this is so cool."

On the other hand, MegaGal seemed almost suspicious. "It's only a tier 1 kaiju though, I was kind of expecting something a bit bigger. Still, you take what you can get on patrol!"

"So what happens now? Do we just... squash it? You said tier ones turn to dust or something?"

Planting her hands on the side of the mountain, still staring at the bug, MegaGal said, "I'll just quickly grab this one so we can analyze it first, learn everything we can from it. Watch my back for a second, ok?"

It wasn't super far for MegaGal to reach, so she didn't bother growing. Making sure she had a good handhold, she moved her hand to another ledge, brushing aside some boulders so she could get a good grip. Her shoes held fast on the mountain slope, and she pushed off and pulled herself up. The bug hissed some more and backed away slightly as she came closer.

All Vex was getting was an eyeful of MegaGal's butt from this angle as she tried to peer around her to get a better look at the bug. It wasn't until some rubble rolled past her that she looked away. She watched as a few small rocks stopped in front of her feet and traced their trail behind her, up the other mountain face. Coming out of a large cave was another almost identical bug, pushing boulders out of the way with its pincers. It saw Vex as it came into the light and hissed, crouching down low.

There's another one! Maybe we can grab it while-

The symbiote's thought was cut short as the bug Vex was looking at suddenly leaped directly at her. Not expecting it, Vex covered her face as it reached out with its legs, but her second set of arms came up in a joined fist, batting it up and behind her like a volleyball. Vex could only peek between her fingers as she watched it soar through the air, heading directly towards MegaGal who was currently reaching a gloved hand towards the first bug.

Oh no

Landing directly on the back of MegaGal's shoulders, MegaGal didn't even have time to react before the bug reached up with its mandibles and pincers, grabbing her hair and pulling hard.

"ACK!" was all that came out of MegaGal's mouth as her head was yanked backwards. She lost her grip and slid down the mountain shaking her head to try and toss the thing off. As all this happened, the bug she had been reaching for also jumped into the air. Seeing it coming, MegaGal grabbed it, wincing as the other one still pulled her hair.

"You handle this one!" She yelled as she threw the first bug at Vex.

Vex was somewhat more prepared for it this time as she punched the bug in mid-air, causing it to crash to the ground, clearing a path through some trees. It quickly flipped itself over and clicked its mandibles, circling Vex as it scurried sideways like some sort of demented crab.

Reaching behind her head, MegaGal grabbed the bug with both her hands, yanking it off of her. The bug tried to hold on, but as MegaGal pulled, one of its arms came off with a sickening squelching sound.

"Don't mess with the hair!" she yelled, glaring at the creature.

"Feisty little guy, ain't he?" Penny joked with a smirk as she watched the live feed.

MegaGal held the struggling creature in her hands, attempting to scan it with her visor, though she was creeped out as the arm still gripping her hair wiggled on its own, the gooey end smacking her in the back of her neck. She let one hand go, dangling the bug from a leg as she reached around to the back of her head, carefully prying the pincer open.

With less of a grip on the bug, it thrashed around until the leg MegaGal was holding broke off, and the bug fell to the ground into a small river. It flipped over and began to scurry along the watery trail. "Oh no you don't!" MegaGal said, dropping the detached leg and jumping into the air. While off the ground, she grew another 300 feet all at once, and came smashing down onto the beetle with a force heavy enough to cause the trees around her feet to shake and some loose boulders to tumble down the mountain sides.

Vex was having some trouble getting a handle on the other one as it scurried through her legs, but as soon as MegaGal stomped on the ground, she stumbled a bit. The bug froze while it happened, turning towards the other girl. Watching, it saw a pile of dust as she lifted her foot up, and upon seeing that, suddenly bolted in the opposite direction.

Gaining her footing, Vex turned to the bug and gave chase. "It's getting away!" She shouted over her shoulder as she ran.

MegaGal whipped her head around to look at the two running figures, and saw that even with Vex's bigger size, the bug was starting to outpace her. MegaGal started to grow even more, pumping her legs to start running.

"Remember, we need a full scan on this one!" Leslie reminded her.

"Got it!" MegaGal said, quickly gaining on the now small figures below her. Her shoes were flattening entire sections of trees as they hit the ground, growing more with every step. "Vex, out of the way!" she shouted, diving forward.

Vex turned to see what MegaGal was yelling about, and her eyes went wide. She immediately jumped high to the side towards the mountain, sticking to the wall as MegaGal's enormous growing body barely missed her as she dived.

A giant hand slammed down in front of the bug, stopping its getaway. It turned to try and escape a different way, but another hand slammed down, blocking its exit.

"Got you!" MegaGal exclaimed as her hands closed in and covered the bug.

Vex was breathing heavily. She hadn't done much really, it was mostly Mega, but still. Everything had felt really... easy.

-----

"Alan, I thought you said this was going to be easy!" Stacy shouted, clutching her shoulders as she followed her boyfriend up the rocky trail.

"C'mon babe, this is a piece of cake. We're almost at the top!" Alan shouted back to her as he pulled himself up onto a ledge, standing up to dust off his jeans. He reached down and extended a hand to his girlfriend.

Stacy sighed as she reached out to grab his hand, and with his help, pulled herself up onto the ledge.

"I'm just not dressed for this at all."

"I mean hey, when are we gonna get another chance to see that giant chick? My buddy said she was spotted near these mountains, and she barely ever comes this close to the border."

"Her name is MegaGal, okay?"

"Exactly, and she's like your idol! We could get an up close meet and greet if we're lucky!" Alan said as he continued walking towards the top.

Stacy knew he was right, but still felt like grumbling. Weren't summer evenings supposed to be warm?

Without warning, there was suddenly a loud commotion, and the sound of trees snapping. Alan and Stacy froze, staring at each other for a moment before scrambling up to the top of the overlook. Once they got up top, they both gasped as they saw MegaGal and Vex tackling the bugs.

"No way." Alan said, in awe of the spectacle.

Stacy was also amazed at what she was seeing, though she had no idea who the smaller giant woman in black was. The couple watched MegaGal dive into the air, and come crashing down with a thunderous boom. It was a violent enough impact that it shook the ground beneath their feet, and they lost their footing, falling onto their rears as the loose gravel gave way, Stacy letting out a yelp. They didn't slide too far before they eventually came to a halt, Alan coughing as he waved the dust out of his face.

Stacy picked herself up off the ground, groaning as she rubbed her butt. "Alan, look how dirty my skirt is! I can't let MegaGal see me like this!" She whined, brushing dirt off her clothes. "And there's rocks in my shoes!"

Leaning on a massive boulder beside her, she slipped one of her shoes off and banged it against the huge rock as gravel fell from her shoe. Putting it back on, she was somewhat satisfied she had gotten it all out, and that's when she saw a giant green beady eye had opened on the boulder beside her. Stacy screamed as loud as she could as the boulder started to move.

-----

Vex's head whipped around as she heard the scream, squinting to see two small figures in front of another kaiju. MegaGal also tried to turn her head, but she found some difficulty doing so from her prone position.

"Who's that?" MegaGal yelled back as she began to shift her position to get off of the ground.

Vex knew there was no time to waste, but didn't know if she could make it to the top of the opposite cliff face in time. Unless...

With a powerful push off the wall, Vex leaped into the air, and landed directly on MegaGal's butt, bouncing off her huge wagon to propel herself back into the air, and reached out two of her hands to quickly snatch the two bystanders away, just moments before the monster smashed one of its claws directly where they had been standing. Thinking quickly, she tucked those hands behind her back, and then with her remaining two arms, she tackled the huge beetle.

Vex and the beetle tumbled downwards, crashing through boulders and cracking trees, shaking the ground as they hit the bottom. Quickly getting to her feet, Vex peeked into her hands to make sure her passengers were still safe, and then tucked those hands behind her once more, getting into a fighting stance as the giant beetle gathered its bearings.

"Bring it on," Vex said, putting up her fists, almost excited to fight her very first kaiju.

The beetle turned towards Vex, hissing at her, and just as it prepared to launch itself towards the giant woman, a humongous shoe slammed down on top of it.

MegaGal who was still holding the last remaining beetle, now simply just pinching it between her fingers, looked down at Vex. "Was that a civilian? Are they okay?" She asked, surprised at people being in the area

"Uh... yeah, there's two of them! I think they're fine!" Vex yelled up at her, opening up her pair of hands with the couple in them. They looked visibly shaken, but otherwise unharmed.

"You guys are good, right?" Vex asked in a whispered voice, the two of them nodding at her.

"What in the world?" MegaGal responded, clearly not expecting anyone besides rangers in this cordoned off area. "Well did you ask them their names?"

The beetle hissed and wiggled in her fingers, and MegaGal, smirked. "Oh hush, not you," She added, gently blowing on the beetle.

Having heard MegaGal's question, Alan spoke up, "This is Stacy, and I'm Alan! We were just uh, sightseeing. For a date."

"Their names are Alan and Stacy!" Vex yelled back up to MegaGal. "They say they were just going on a date, hiking I guess!"

MegaGal crouched down closer to them, raising an eyebrow as she smiled, already doubting their story. "Alan and Stacy is it? You two love birds are a little far off from Make-out Point... seriously though, you two are very lucky Vex was here to save your little butts."

The beetle hissed again, MegaGal rolling her eyes, "Tell me about it!" She teased.

Still, even though Vex was glad everything had turned out ok, Hailey couldn't help but feel like she hadn't really done much. A part of her really did want to try her hand at fighting a kaiju for the first time, but mostly she just wanted to feel useful. Even at her current size, Hailey couldn't help but feel... small in comparison.

"Hey, uh, Mega. Can I still fight that one? I wasn't ready the first time!"

"Oh, this guy?" MegaGal asked, holding up the beetle, a little surprised at the request.

Amie pursed her lips, "Well, we do need time to analyze it still. If she can keep it busy, that'd be helpful."

MegaGal smiled at Amie's approval. "Sure Vex! Lemme just..."

MegaGal got down onto her knees and bent down. She was now big enough that the huge bug was just a small marble in her hands, and her thighs filled the canyon. Very carefully MegaGal cupped her hands against the ground, making sure the beetle couldn't escape its prison of giant fingers.

Before climbing into the hand-made fighting ring, Vex placed Alan and Stacey gently onto a cliff outcropping and said, "Just give us one sec guys, ok?"

The couple nodded. Despite everything they had just been through, they couldn't really hide their excitement.

Haha, yes! Time to fight a kaiju!

Vex approached MegaGal's hand, and as she climbed her fingers, she couldn't help but marvel at how incredibly huge MegaGal currently was, especially when she herself was still a giant woman. Right before leaping in to fight the bug, Vex shrunk herself down to 200 feet tall, just so it would be somewhat of an even match. It was only fair, right?

MegaGal smiled as Vex jumped into her arena. The bug was running in circles but turned towards Vex immediately, hissing and clicking its mandibles. MegaGal squinted, starting to get a read on it as it charged the symbiote girl, rearing up as it got close. Each of her arms grabbed a different limb as it tried to claw at her, and she made sure to not let its mandibles get close enough to bite one of her boobs. Yanking it to the side, the bug flipped over as Vex rolled it onto the ground, trying to pin it. It didn't give up that easily, and tried to scramble away, dragging Vex with it.

"Ride 'em cowgirl!" MegaGal yelled with a smile, being very entertained at what was happening. She had to give the bug some credit though, it was still pulling Vex around despite being half her size. Alan and Stacy were also cheering on from the sidelines.

Vex dug her feet into the ground which stopped the bug in its tracks, and she rolled it onto its back, holding its shell against her stomach with all 4 of her hands while its legs clawed at the air, upside down. "Is it done?" Vex yelled out towards MegaGal.

"Almost!" The giant girl shouted back as the bar neared its completion on her visor's display. Vex shook the kaiju to try and disorient it in the meantime in an attempt to get it to stop struggling. Once the bar filled up, MegaGal shouted, "All good!"

Finish him!

Vex tossed the bug straight up, rolling out from under it. As the bug landed on the ground, she ran towards it, punching it square in the side of its shell, staggering it. Then she punched it again, with another hand, and again, and again, all 4 of her hands punching it in rapid succession. One of her hands made a crunching sound as it broke through the shell, and the creature squealed and collapsed to the ground as its bright lime green eyes suddenly blinked out. Vex ripped her hand out of the carcass, and as she did so, the shell began to disintegrate to dust, the rest of the body following suit.

Raising her arms up in victory, Vex did a little fist pump, trying to hide how visibly out of breath she was. The fight had taken a lot out of her, even with her super strength. In comparison, MegaGal seemed completely unphased by any of this, like it was just a walk in the park for her.

"Wooo!" MegaGal cheered, her breath alone slightly staggering Vex like a strong wind. "Way to go girl! Now let's see what we learned from that little guy. Luna, we get anything useful?"

"Overall it doesn't seem too different from any other tier 1 kaiju you've fought, though they seemed to be acting like some sort of... batteries, draining energy from around them. That would explain the dead trees and vegetation in the area," Amie started.

"However, I discovered something else interesting," Leslie added, leaning forward to read her notes. "I compared the partial scan we got of the first one to the initial of the scan of the other, and if what I'm reading is correct, they're completely identical."

"Are we dealing with triplet bugs or something?" MegaGal asked with a scoff.

"Something like that," Rook said, leaning back in his chair. "There's a possibility that they're some sort of clones from a singular source, or even that we might be dealing with some sort of creature that can self-replicate. These three in particular seemed rather small, so if they were from the same source, there's a chance that they're weaker from being away from there. These are all obviously not good options, so we're gonna have to extend your patrol to do a thorough check around the entire state instead of the initial interior perimeter scans like we had planned."

"Roger that," MegaGal said. She got up onto her knees, and her eyes wandered to the couple on the cliff outcropping. Leaning over towards them, she spoke out loud to both them and Luna team, "So what are we planning to do with our unexpected audience here?"

Stacy was grabbing her skirt and twisting it in her hands nervously, "We're not gonna get in any trouble are we?"

MegaGal shook her head, "We'll have some rangers come pick you up, and I'm sure they'll give you a stern talking to, but you'll be fine as long as you promise not to come around here again, right guys?" She asked to the team listening to her as she put a finger to her ear.

Amie sighed once again, "We've already sent a team to get them, but please remind them how dangerous it can be out there."

"Believe me, I think they've seen the danger first-hand, I doubt they're gonna be coming back, right?" The couple nodded quickly in response, but MegaGal stuck out a giant finger right in front of them. "Shake on it?"

Stacy giggled as both her and Alan pressed their hands against the huge fingertip, as MegaGal gingerly moved it up and down.

Vex crouched down close to the couple and asked, "One more thing. Be honest, you guys just wanted to get a closer look at her, right?"

The couple looked at each other and smiled, nodding.

"You really should've come to the parade then."

"We were supposed to! But SOMEONE mixed up the date!" Stacy shouted, playfully punching Alan in the shoulder.

Alan put his hands up defensively, "And I said I was sorry! But this made up for it, right?"

MegaGal laughed, "Well if it didn't make up for it, how about I sweeten the deal and carry you over to the jeep that's coming to pick you up? I think I see it just over the ridge."

The couple looked very excited as they climbed onto her extended finger, having to hoist each other up and then sliding down into her huge palm.

She laid out her other hand flat towards Vex and added, "And you too Donna, climb aboard!"

"Still not my name," Vex said, climbing onto the huge hand, sitting down in the middle of her palm. "And you said it with such confidence that time too!"

MegaGal chuckled as she stood up to her full height, somewhere around 15,000 feet. "Hey, you mind activating the rest of the hammers after I drop these guys off? We have to check all of them now, and it'll go a bit faster if I'm this size."

Vex turned her head to the side, a smug look on her face, as she said, "Sure, no problem. And this obviously has nothing to do with the fact that you'd rather just be as big as the safety limit in this area lets you be, huh?"

Feigning shock, though not being able to completely hide her smile, MegaGal began to walk. "I'm offended that you'd even suggest such a thing!"

Honestly, I'm just glad we have the chance to prove it was definitely not us who activated the alarm

Vex stood up and walked to the edge of MegaGal's finger, and sat down again, dangling her legs over the ledge as MegaGal continued on, taking large steps out of the mountain valley.

Chapter 5

"And there's the last one," MegaGal said as she approached the metal panel in the ground. The sky was now dark after the sun had recently set, and MegaGal was ready to call it a day after walking around for so long. The rest of the hammers had been uneventful, but at least they were just about done. She started to bend over to put Vex on the ground to activate it, but Vex suddenly jumped from her palm towards her leg. She reached out and planted two of her four palms on MegaGal's hip, and instead of just sticking to it, began to slide down the giant woman. Practically in freefall, she slid down over her uniform and continued careening down the skin on her leg. It took close to 10 seconds to reach her shoe, and she leapt over it, landing on the ground in a roll.

MegaGal lightly clapped her hands. "Nice dismount!"

Vex walked towards the hammer, and her two lower arms flipped backwards, turning their hands around at impossible angles, and shot finger guns up towards MegaGal's direction. While Vex grabbed a hold of the last hammer like she had done with all the others, MegaGal sat down on the large empty hill, and laid back, stretching her arms.

The hammer slammed down, sending another vibration through the ground. Vex stood there waiting, and wasn't expecting a tremor to suddenly shake the earth beneath her. She heard an alarm from behind her and turned, confused since it wasn't the same alarm the other hammer had made earlier. Her eyes went wide and she backed up, bumping into the hammer as a giant growing shoe carved a path in the dirt towards her with its heel. It stopped just in front of her, the shaking stopping with it, and Hailey leaned back, staring up at the upside-down word that said "GAL" on the bottom of the giant sole. The shoe slid to the side as MegaGal finished raising her arms above her head.

"Sorry!" MegaGal yelled out with a sheepish smile. She always was a bit embarrassed when she grew a bit without meaning to and started to will herself to shrink back down. "I've been having more and more trouble with those growth spurts lately."

Vex laughed, walking towards her. "Don't worry about it, it's fine. Maybe you should ask your bosses for a vacation or something!"

That wasn't actually a half bad idea.

Vex walked up beside MegaGal who was still shrinking back down as much as she could, Now just under 1000 feet tall. "So, we gonna head back to May's then?"

MegaGal laid back in the grass, looking up at the moon in the sky. "We could... but maybe we could make a stop first." She rolled her head to look at Vex beside her, asking, "You said you could survive in space, right?"

"Uh, yeeeeaaaah, why?"

Amie narrowed her eyes and crossed her arms. "Are you about to ask what I think you're about to ask MegaGal?"

That just made MegaGal grin as she looked back up at the moon. "Luna, can you fire the lasso down to our location? I wanna show her the view."

Amie let out a long sigh into her ear, and the others turned to look at her. She looked around at them, saying, "What are you looking at me for, Rook has the final say."

Rook smiled at her and raised an eyebrow. "I think we were expecting more of an objection from you."

"Well she did help out today," Amie said almost begrudgingly. Rook chuckled and waved Indie and Leslie ahead, who both began the lasso's activation sequence.

"We'll send you in through tower 4." Rook spoke up.

As MegaGal stood up, Vex stared up at the moon. "Wait, are you taking us where I think you're taking us?"

Vex jumped as the red beam suddenly slammed into the ground in front of them. MegaGal turned to Vex, looking down at her with a grin. "Better suit up," she said, walking forward.

Staying by her side, Vex's symbiote crawled up her face and flattened her blonde hair to her neck. It didn't form the typical toothy mouth, instead becoming a full mask, and forming its symbiote eyes into transparent goggles that her green eyes were visible through.

The pair of them stepped into the beam, and Vex's vision was filled with the raging energy all around her. She felt the ground disappear beneath her, and then suddenly her feet hit something, and the beam vanished. She was still standing beside MegaGal in an incredibly large metal room. The lights around them faded and Vex went to say something, but no words came out. She looked upwards and saw an open hatch in the top of the room, stars dotting the completely black sky. Slowly the hatch began to close, and rows of lights on the floor lit up, leading towards a huge door that began to slowly inch open. The two girls approached the gigantic sliding doors, and as the view of the barren rocky landscape came into view, it really hit Hailey that she actually wasn't on Earth anymore.

With the doors fully open, she could see that there was a large drop out of the structure they were in, and MegaGal grabbed Vex's hand, mouthing the words, "C'mon," As she pulled her forward. The pair of girls floated in the low gravity, landing gently on the moon's dusty white terrain. Vex marveled at the giant structure they had come out of, this moon base must have been truly massive.

MegaGal finally let go of Hailey's hand and motioned for her to follow as she began to grow a little. Vex slowly walked across the surface, following the giant girl, her large breasts slowly drifting up and down as she kicked up moon dust. MegaGal stepped over some of the smaller buildings, and Vex crawled over them, stepping softly onto the other side. Vex continued to follow MegaGal, her eyes wandering all over the place as she looked at the vastness of space above her, and the huge plains of craters and rocks.

I can't believe I'm actually on the moon!

The symbiote didn't seem nearly as impressed as her, silently judging the soundless environment. After walking for a bit, there was an especially large crater they arrived at. MegaGal slid down into it, kicking her feet up over the opposite edge of the rim. Vex slid down with her, but was much deeper in the crater than her, and thought she should get a bit higher. MegaGal saw her looking to get up, and offered her a hand, but Vex shook her head. She took a step back, and jumped up into the air, but had forgotten to account for the lower gravity, and slowly sailed through the air over MegaGal's body. The giantess opened her mouth, laughing in silence as she reached up her other hand to catch Vex in mid-air, her breasts colliding with her fingers. Angling her hand towards her stomach, she slid her down onto it, where Vex sat down, and looked up above them.

Way in the distance, the two girls got a good view of Earth. It was like nothing Vex had ever seen before, and MegaGal loved that Vex seemed totally transfixed on the view. She sat there in silence, slowly leaning her head back onto MegaGal's breasts, like giant, soft pillows. MegaGal leaned back into the crater itself, cherishing the moment.

Y'know...

MegaGal's eyes widened as the quiet words she had been trying to make out this whole time were suddenly clear. It was the only thing she could hear at all, sounding like a stranger version of Vex's normal voice, but more... alien.

I know we're trying to get back home and everything, but... I'm pretty glad all of this has happened. I'm glad we met MegaGal. She seems like a good friend.

Vex leaned her head back, looking up at MegaGal's face, only to see the giant girl was looking directly at her as well. She was biting her lip and her mouth was formed into an incredibly wide smile. It was hard to miss the "Thank you" that she mouthed out, and Vex's eyes widened as she realized she had heard what the symbiote said. Even through the full mask, MegaGal could tell Vex was smiling back at her. The two girls returned their attention back to the beautiful sight of the planet before them, and MegaGal put her hands over Vex's legs, holding her softly against her, cherishing the moment.