

The central focus is a circular stone-walled hut. The interior features a wooden floor with a red patterned rug in the center. A table is set up with various items, including a yellow lantern, a book, and some food. A doorway is visible on the left side of the hut. The walls are made of grey stone blocks.

A stone path leads from the hut towards the river. The path is made of irregular grey stones and is bordered by small green bushes and plants. A wooden bridge is visible in the background, crossing the river.

The lower half of the image shows a blue river with various elements. A wooden bridge with several posts spans across the river. There are several small green bushes and plants scattered in the water. A small wooden structure is partially submerged in the water at the bottom left. The river is bordered by green foliage and trees on both sides.

